Britain Bans Pool Betting

LONDON (CP-Cable) — The British government has decided that football pool betting in wartime cannot be justified. Postmaster-General G. C. Tryon has informed the "football pools promoters' association" the government, having in mind the war strain already on the post office, thinks the further burden of pools transactions cannot be justified.

The decision is a blow to an enterprise that provides jobs for thousands, with an estimated $7,000,000 wagered weekly in some 300 pools.

Pool promoters had hoped to revive operations, halted by the cancellation of regular English League schedules on the outbreak of war, when competitive soccer is resumed on a regional basis, October 14.

Australia to Keep Troops at Home

MELBOURNE (CP-Reuters) — Australia probably will keep most of her troops at home to guard against an attack by possible German allies in the East, Prime Minister R. G. Menzies said in a broadcast address today. "I believe the Empire is seriously menaced," he said. Australian military aid to Britain for the present will be confined to sending aviation units.

TORONTO (CP) — C.P.R. stock today rose another point to 9 1/4, which is nearly three times its recent low selling point.

Latest estimates are that the repatriation of Canadian stocks from England by the Dominion Government will give the government control of C.P.R., as more than half the common stock of the company has been held in England.

News for Germans

LONDON (CP) — Leaflets scattered from British airplanes and German-language programs from British broadcasting stations may be used to tell Germans of charges that their leaders have accumulated large personal fortunes in foreign banks, it was indicated in the House of Commons today by Sir Edward Grigg, parliamentary secretary for the information ministry.

Insist Bombs Hit Ships

BERLIN (AP) — The high command this evening denied British assertions that German air raiders had missed their mark in attacking British warships in the North Sea and that three German planes were disabled.

The air force command said one 500-kilogram (1,102-pound) bomb, among others, had struck a British aircraft carrier squarely and that two 250-kilogram bombs had hit a battleship near her bow and amidships.

"The effect of those heavy bombs required no further explanation," the command said, adding the assertion that all German planes returned to their bases after the attack.

porting on the two Four-year Plans launched by the Nazis, "but whatever gain there has been has been bought at a terrific cost."

BREAKDOWN

"Labor in some key industries, notably iron, steel, mining and armaments, has been used past the point of diminishing return. Hours of work have been greatly increased, and output per man-hour has gone down."

"The health level has declined both from overwork and a generally low nutrition standard, and there is a much greater amount of sickness. Competition for labor has jumped wage rates in some trades, with consequent danger to the whole Nazi theory of wage-price parity that was to prevent inflation."

SHORTAGE

"An even more serious pressure toward inflation is the shortage of consumers' goods. In relation to the national income, the amount of consumers' goods available to the civilian public is a third less now than in 1928."

"In the meantime capital goods, including military armaments, have increased almost 43 per cent over the 1928 figure. This shift in production has created a highly dangerous economic tension."

ROAD TO COLLAPSE

"Germany's industrial equipment is being worn out by the terrific pace of production, and because of the log-jam in the machine industry it is not being replaced. This has reached the point now where factory breakdowns and accidents are commonplace. The railroad system is deteriorating also, and there is a peacetime shortage of 70,000 cars."

"Because of overworked capital and labor, the quality of goods produced has suffered to a very great extent. Deterioration and adulteration in both producers' and consumers' goods, including foodstuffs, is one of the bases on which German self-sufficiency will probably collapse."

Besieged City Gives Up

BERLIN (8:17 p.m.) (AP) — The German high command issued this communique tonight:

"Warsaw has capitulated unconditionally."

"The handing over of the city probably will occur September 29."

The announcement came several hours after an earlier communique which declared Warsaw's defenders, "under the thrust" of German assaults begun yesterday, had offered this morning to surrender.

General Johannes von Blaskowitz had been commissioned to arrange details of the capitulation.

The German announcement came at the end of the 20th day of Warsaw's siege.

(As late as 2:45 p.m. (5:45 a.m. P.S.T.) the Warsaw radio was heard in Budapest, the announcer declaring the city still was holding out and would resist to the last. At that time he said the Warsaw sky was "blackened" by 200 German warplanes. He described the capital as "a destroyed inferno," declaring "more than 3,000 civilians" had been killed in the past 24 hours. In Paris it was stated that a broadcast which apparently emanated from the Warsaw radio station today proposed a 24-hour truce with the German attackers.)

British Warships Bag 2 Nazi Planes

LONDON (CP) — Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced in House of Commons today that a squadron of British warships was attacked in the North Sea yesterday by 20 German planes, but that none of the naval units was hit.

The Admiralty chief said Sir Charles Forbes, commander-in-chief of the Home Fleet, had wirelessly said:

"Yesterday afternoon in the middle of the North Sea a squadron of British capital ships, together with aircraft carrier, cruisers and destroyers, was attacked by about 20 German aircraft. No British ship was hit and no British casualties were incurred."

"One German flying boat was shot down and another was reported badly damaged."

CREW, PLANE CAPTURED

Mr. Churchill added that another German aircraft came down in the North Sea.

"We sent a destroyer to collect her and her crew of four, who have been brought in as prisoners," he said.

Mr. Churchill's statement and an identical one issued by the Admiralty a few moments later, were prompted by questions from the Labor opposition concerning the German claims their North Sea attackers had scored direct hits on a British battleship during an engagement.

A later announcement disclosed the sea and air engagement occurred about 150 miles off the Norwegian coast.

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERLIN (AP) — The following reference to a North Sea air naval action was given in the German High Command's communique today:

"German air force units yesterday successfully attacked English naval units—battleships, airplane carriers, cruisers, destroyers—in the middle part of the North Sea. Besides one airplane carrier, which has been destroyed, several severe hits were scored on one battleship. Our airplanes sustained no losses."

This was interpreted to mean a second British aircraft carrier—the Courageous, sunk September 17, being the first—had been destroyed. But the communique did not name the British vessel.

Income Tax Raised to 37 1/2%, Excess Profits Hit

LONDON (CP)—Britons were faced today with the heaviest taxes they ever have known in war or peace to meet an estimated minimum £2,000,000,000 outlay in the present financial year for the country's war effort.

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented his first war budget in the House of Commons. With gasps of dismay the crowded House heard the figures.

It increased the standard income tax rate for the next full year, April, 1940 to March, 1941, to 37.5 per cent of total income—7s 6d (15s) in the pound (4.47)—an increase over the present rate of just 10 per cent. For the remaining portion of the current fiscal year, ending March 31 next, the rate will be 35 per cent, or 7s in the pound.

At the same time Sir John, basing his budget on plans for a three-year war, announced direct tax increases "all down the line" on beer, whisky, tobacco, sugar, wines, death duties, income surtaxes and excess profits.

The tea tax was left untouched, however.

SPEEDILY VOTED

The House, without a recorded vote, quickly adopted essential portions of the budget, putting them into effect immediately. These included the increases in the income tax and the taxes on tobacco, sugar, beer, wines and spirits.

Sir John also announced heavier burdens on persons at both ends of the tax-paying scale, lowering the exemptions at which taxation begins and raising the surtax, which is levied on incomes of more than £2,000 ($8,940).

Under the 1940-41 surtax schedule a man with an income of more than £30,000 ($134,100) must pay 82.5 per cent on income above that figure.

The lowered exemptions mean single persons pay tax on income above £100 ($447); married persons without children on income above £170 ($579) the allowance for each child was decreased from £60 ($268) to £50 ($223).

"These severe sacrifices—the heaviest which the direct taxpayer in this country has ever had to bear"—were declared by the Chancellor to be vital in the scheme which called for a contribution to the war expenses "from citizens of every kind and fortune."

Sir John added: "However serious our financial problems may be, the financial problems which confront Germany are infinitely greater."

Increased taxes would produce £107,000,000 this year and £226,500,000 in the full fiscal year, Sir John estimated.

PROFITS TAX

One of the heaviest levies was a 70 per cent tax on excess profits.

Applying to the whole field of trade and industry, the tax will be levied on excess profits since last March 31 over profits of the pre-war standard period.

The 7s, or 35 per cent, rate for the remainder of this year will apply on income tax due by direct payment next January 1.

Sir John recalled the total expenditure for the current year was estimated in August at £1,453,000,000 ($6,494,910,000) of which £502,000,000 ($2,243,394) was to be borrowed.

This included defence costs of £730,000,000 ($3,263,100).

Taxes on alcoholic liquors were increased, effective tomorrow. Beer will go up a penny (about two cents) a pint, as it did in 1914.

The tax on spirits was increased 10s ($2.20) per proof gallon. The tobacco tax went up 2s (44 cents) a pound.

Death duties were increased by 10 per cent on estates of from £10,000 to £50,000 and by 20 per cent on larger estates.

New rates for the surtax, levied in an ascending scale on incomes of more than £2,000 ($8,940), will range from 1s 3d (about 25 cents) on the first £500 above £2,000 to 9s 6d (about $2) in the pound on the portion of an income exceeding £30,000 ($134,000).

These rates are in addition to the basic 7s. (It means that incomes over £30,000 will pay 82.5 per cent).

The new income taxes would produce an extra £70,000,000 ($302,000,000) this year and £146,000,000 in the next full year, he asserted.

There would be special provisions to "mitigate the severity of the increase where individuals this year experience a substantial drop of earned income."

CONSIDERATION SHOWN

Where a man earned £1,000 ($4,470) last year and would normally be assessed on that figure this year, Sir John explained, he would be assessed on the latter figure.

The income tax rate during the last war was 6s in the pound, or 30 per cent.

Sir John estimated the new beer taxes would produce £11,000,000 ($49,170,000) this year and £27,000,000 ($120,690,000) in the next full year.

The new surtax, he estimated, would produce £5,000,000 ($22,250,000) this year and £8,000,000 ($35,760,000) in the full 1940-41 year.

SUGAR GOES UP

Sugar taxes were increased a penny a pound on fully refined products. This tax is expected to bring in £18,000,000 annually.

Taxes on imported light wines will go up 2s (about 44 cents) a gallon and on heavy wines 4s (about 88 cents).

Other estimates of increased revenue included:

Tobacco, £8,000,000 ($35,760,000) this year and £16,000,000 ($71,520,000) in a full year.

Spirits, £2,000,000 ($8,940,000) this year and £3,500,000 ($15,645,000) in a full year.

Wines, £1,000,000 ($4,470,000) this year and £2,000,000 ($8,940,000) in a full year.

Sir John, leaning his elbows on the big red dispatch box, told how the excess profits tax on all industries was designed to guard against war profiteering.

CAPITAL LEVY FORECAST

Treasury officials, he announced, are considering a wartime capital levy as another protection against profiteering, but it will not be applied until after peace is declared.

Spacing his remarks by draughts of a throat tonic brewed by his wife, the Chancellor warned that £500,000,000 war credit already approved by Parliament might not be sufficient to cover expenditures until the end of the fiscal year next March.

He emphasized that Britain must adopt a "pay-as-we-go" policy as far as practicable, but also announced there would be no borrowings. He promised to do all in his power to avoid inflation with attendant price increases, disparities and inequalities.

The terms of new defence loans were not announced today, but Sir John appealed to citizens and institutions to put aside their savings "for the benefit of the nation and themselves."

Sir John ended his budget speech with these words: "If the price of victory is high, it is a price worth paying, for it is the price of 'berthy' and all that makes life worth living for Europe and the rest of the world."

French Guns Blast Parts of Westwall

PARIS (CP-Havas) — The French army command's communiqué tonight reported: "The day was marked by activity by our reconnaissance de-

By JOHN MARTIN

PARIS (AP) — French artillery was reported today to have wiped out portions of the German Westwall between Merzig and Saarbrücken as the entire western front blazed with heavy cannonading.

Dispatches said the Germans had answered the bombardment with an intense counterfire on French advance positions in the Saar and Palatinate areas to protect German troops working feverishly to rebuild shattered blockhouses.

A communiqué issued this morning by the general staff made no reference to the reported success, and said the night had been quiet. The communiqué made mention, however, of "enemy artillery fire on our rear lines in the region of Wissembourg."

The Merzig-Saarbrücken sector extends along a 25-mile front at the northern end of the French-German frontier, where, French sources said, there were 30 to 40 German pillboxes to the square mile.

French military men were said to have long held the belief these works were constructed too hurriedly to stand up under heavy bombardment.

Reports from the front said the French air force was proving a large factor in enabling the artillery to score direct hits on the German fortified line.

French infantry activity, these reports declared, was confined to patrol skirmishes.

VILLAGES SHELLED

Long-range German guns were reported to have dropped "several shells" on unidentified villages which previously had gone untouched. The artillery action, the French said, could be characterized as a "duel."

They declared they had been unable to verify reports of the bombing of the German airplane works at Friedrichshafen early in the week, but revised upward their estimates of the number of German planes shot down during an air battle over the western front Monday.

New information, they said, showed "almost certainly" that four German planes were brought down. French losses were still estimated at two planes.

German troops, meanwhile, were said to be massing behind the lines as fast as they could be transferred from the Polish front. The French professed to see German uneasiness regarding the eastern front in reports Fuehrer Hitler had ordered his army high command to expedite mopping-up operations in Poland.

At the same time, the French apparently were concerned lest Germany strike through neutral Belgium, the Netherlands, or Switzerland. (Germany has disavowed any such plan.)

NO SURPRISES

The French asserted the war was "robbed" of the possibility of surprise because only three courses were open to the Germans. These, they declared, were:

1. An attempted crossing of the Rhine.
2. An attack through neutral countries.
3. A counter-blockade effort, which the French said also would necessitate invasion of neutral lowland countries on the north to seize French channel ports.

The French argued the first course would be practically impossible in the face of heavy Maginot Line guns sweeping the Rhine.

They said the general staff was ready to meet any threat through neutral countries with fast tanks and mobile units of combined French-British forces.

Duplessis Irked As CBC Curb Quebec Speeches

MONTREAL (CP) — Radio stations throughout Quebec have been advised "that during the war period the broadcasting of political addresses must be confined to the studio," and that no station will have the "right to broadcast a political speech made at a political meeting."

The instructions were written over the name of H. N. Stovin, superintendent of relations between the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and privately-owned stations. The circular also said that political speeches to be made from the studio must be submitted in advance to Mr. Stovin and speeches must not be delivered over the air until authorization is received from the department.

"This decision," said the brief announcement, "was taken by the censorship authorities Friday, September 22."

Two days later, Quebec announced its plans for a general provincial election on October 25.

OTTAWA (CP) — Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, today issued the following statement concerning broadcasting of political speeches during the Quebec election campaign:

"In the Quebec election campaign the CBC is responsible only for the collection of scripts. Censorship is exercised by the censorship co-ordination committee, which has regulated that political broadcasting will be confined to studios, there being no broadcasting from public meetings."

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis

declared today in an interview that regulations barring broadcasting of speeches at political rallies would "prevent free discussion of questions of vital importance to the electors of the province" during the forthcoming provincial election campaign.

The Premier said he "hesitated" to believe reports of the regulations which would prevent political speeches from being broadcast from public meetings and would force political speeches to be authorized by officials before being broadcast from any station.

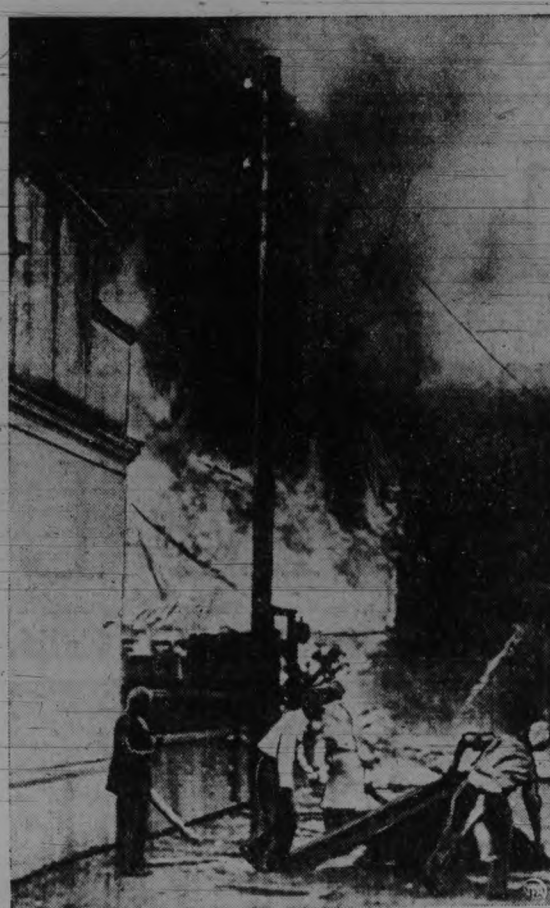

"And," he added, "I believe if there was such a radical change, a provincial question involving provincial rights, it would be only ethical and decent to at least communicate with the Premier and Attorney-General of the province of Quebec."

(Premier Duplessis also holds the portfolio of attorney-general.) Mr. Duplessis said the question of provincial autonomy was involved in the election and that he "would be surprised if measures were taken by federal authorities to prevent exposure of the vital question."

"I recall in many cases that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation permitted Communists to expose their opinions and theories. Would it be logical to prevent provincial authorities from expressing their opinions on questions closely concerning the provinces?"

Regarding the rule that political studio speeches must not be delivered until authorization had been received, Premier Duplessis declared:

"As Prime Minister of the province of Quebec, I will submit no text to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. I contend the Prime Minister of Quebec has the right to express his opinions and those of the province without having to pass through federal authorities."

Horrors Of Warsaw Told In Broadcast

By ROBERT B. PARKER

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Warsaw radio, describing a terrific German aerial and artillery assault on the besieged Polish capital, today told Britain and France "we are holding out." (This broadcast was made before it was announced in Berlin that Warsaw had surrendered to the Germans.)

The station broadcast a special message to the Polish ambassadors in Paris and London that though Warsaw "is razed" after almost three weeks of siege "we expect aid will be forthcoming from our allies."

Polish troops defending the capital were said to have repulsed all German land attacks. "Warsaw has been virtually razed," said the radio announcer, declaring, however, "the morale of the population is excellent and we will never give in while one of us still is alive."

Speaking at 2.15 p.m. (5.15 a.m., P.S.T.) he reported German bombing planes were throwing incendiary bombs into the centre of the city.

Communication within the capital was described as impossible "because of the fires and universal wreckage."

"The food situation is tragic," said the announcer. "Our last hospital was destroyed by German shells today."

Fears of an epidemic because of water shortage added to the horrors of the besieged capital.

Between announcements the Warsaw station played hymns.

Dead and wounded were said to be lying in the capital's streets because of the breakdown of all transportation and communication facilities. Fires were raging unchecked because water mains were broken. All churches, as well as hospitals had been destroyed by shells and bombs.

"We foresee a tragic situation soon for our capital," said the announcer calmly. "The reservoir and water pumps have been destroyed by German air attacks. The city now totally lacks water."

NUNS, DOCTORS KILLED

Destruction of the Hospital of the Child of Jesus shortly before noon was said to have caused the deaths of 17 nuns and 3 physicians.

The announcer asserted Polish anti-aircraft guns had brought down eight raiding planes yesterday.

More than 100 heavy German siege guns were said to be pouring shells into the centre of the city, a stream uninterrupted since Saturday.

At 2.30 p.m. (5.30 a.m., P.S.T.) the broadcaster said "several hundred more" incendiary bombs had been dumped into the capital.

"There are more than 500 fires burning now. About all that is left to burn is now blazing."

All public buildings were described as afire or already badly damaged by flames.

Hundreds of horses killed each day were said by the announcer to have been butchered immediately to feed the besieged populace.

Troops defending the city were holding their positions "against savage and desperate Nazi attacks" and in some places had bettered their positions with bayonet charges, said the announcer, adding the Polish losses were "exceedingly small."

GERMANS ENRAGED

In the special message broadcast to the Polish ambassadors in London and Paris, the announcer said:

"The Nazi invaders, enraged by our resistance, are systematically burning, shelling and bombing every living human being or animal."

"They are making this an inferno on earth, apparently intending to wipe us out to the last man, woman and child."

"Warsaw is one big ruin."

The announcer said Warsaw's last 24 hours had been the most tragic of all "and still there seems more to come."

At 2.45 p.m. the announcer shouted: "Here come more than 200 planes, blackening the sky. They are dropping heavy bombs on to already ruined buildings in the centre of the city."

"There is hardly a street in which it is possible to walk" because of high-piled wreckage, he said.

"We Poles have an unalterable faith ultimate deliverance will come for our city."

The messages to the London and Paris ambassadors were described as an "SOS."

"Attacks such as you outside cannot possibly imagine in your wildest thoughts are going on against us," it said.

The announcer said "an appalling loss of civilian life" was the result.

Submarine Sinks Russian Freighter

MOSCOW (CP-Havas) — The 967-ton Soviet steamship Metallist was torpedoed and sunk by an unidentified submarine in the Narva Bay region of the Gulf of Finland, Tass, the official Russian news agency, reported tonight.

Soviet patrol ships rescued 19 members of the Metallist's crew. Five others were reported missing.

The official announcement of the sinking came as the Soviet press published sharp attacks on Estonia for handling of the submarine problem, accusing the small Baltic nation of providing naval bases for foreign powers.

Earlier Tass charged that the Polish submarine Orzel escaped internment at Tallinn, capital of Estonia, recently with Estonian complicity.

The new report further clouded Soviet-Estonian relations as Russian leaders prepared to confer with Estonian Foreign Minister Karl Selter, due here tonight on his second visit this week.

6-Point Plan For Neutrality

PANAMA (AP) — Proposals of the United States for a sweeping program designed to preserve the present neutrality of the American republics were before the inter-American neutrality conference here today.

The program, which would be undertaken in co-operation with other American republics, was presented yesterday by the chief United States delegate, Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State. Six main points provided for are:

1. A safety zone for merchant shipping in the patrolling of which the United States navy would co-operate and, in effect, bear the chief burden. An attempt to prevent searches, seizures, commerce raiding and other belligerent activities in this zone would be made.
2. A ban on belligerent submarines in the ports of American republics.
3. A joint representation to the belligerents setting forth neutrality declarations of the Americas.
4. An "inter-American advisory committee" to study stabilization of monetary and commercial relationships among the American republics.
5. Preservation of liberal trade

B.C. Has 6,500 Men Under Arms

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia has 6,500 men under arms, according to a statement by Brigadier J. C. Stewart, officer commanding military district No. 11, who inspected Vancouver's troops yesterday.

"I am very pleased with the progress they have made," he said after the inspection. "The whole mobilization has been most satisfactory. It has gone ahead slowly and thoroughly."

"Recruiting is still going on. Only the coastal defence units have stopped enlisting. The Princess Patricia's (light infantry), the Seaforth's and the Westminsters (regiment) still need men."

All British Columbia units had important work to do, the Brigadier said, and emphasized that no man should feel he was not doing his full share just because he happened to be in one of those units not selected for overseas service.

Brigadier Stewart planned to inspect the New Westminster Garrison before returning to Victoria headquarters.

Soldiers to Run

LONDON (CP) — Recalling the cross-country runs organized by the Amateur Athletic Association for the Services during the First Great War, officials of the association said some such contests may be inaugurated soon.

U.S. to Keep Needed Materials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt yesterday advised Americans not to sell to foreign purchasers materials which the United States needs for its own defence.

At a press conference Mr. Roosevelt said overtures had been made for the purchase of such materials in the U.S.

Naturally, he continued, the government does not want any of them exported when it has been trying to build up reserve stocks for use in case of emergency.

Among critical materials he named crude rubber, manganese ferro grade, ferromanganese, pig iron and metallurgical chrome.

U.B.C. Students On Active Service

VANCOUVER (CP) — The University of British Columbia contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps now is a unit under active service regulations. Orders from the chief of the Canadian general staff advise students that enlistments are limited to those who express willingness to join one of the active force fighting units within a "reasonable time."

Formerly recruits of the C.O.T.C. were under no more military obligation than any civilian of the same age group.

Allies Choose Time For Action At Front

By GUY RHOADES

LONDON — (CP) A highly placed informant warned the press in an interview not to expect any spectacular activity yet on the western front because it was the essence of Allied policy that such activity should not take place.

"I think we should be quite clear that we have learned the lessons of the last war and we do not intend there shall be any repetitions of Loos, the Somme and Passchendaele with their appalling losses of life," he said.

If the public and other observers were inclined to be impatient over the delay, they should consider it a delay for a purpose, he added.

He said also that the French and British staffs had been in close consultation since Germany recaptured the Rhineland in 1936 and that the policy now being followed was worked out as a result of consultations which took place over three years.

When operations start on a large scale, he said, they would be part of a considered scheme and not haphazard attacks on local positions involving heavy losses.

The same authority hazarded a guess that Germany is finding the British blockade considerably more effective than is admitted. He drew attention to the boast of Field Marshal Hermann Goering that Germany had plenty of food to last four years, and the contradictory German complaint that Britain is trying to starve civilians in the Reich. "Either the campaign is ineffective; then why the fuss? or if it is successful and the fuss is understandable," he said.

He said the German submarine campaign against British shipping had become conspicuously less successful in recent days and suggested the Germans, noticing this, might have decided to transfer their attention to neutral shipping seeking to reach British ports.

TRANSPORT DIFFICULTIES

Enlarging his remarks on the effect of the blockade of Germany, he said he did not believe Russia could supply the whole of Germany's war supply needs even if she wishes to do so, partly because transport facilities between the two countries are poor and partly because Russia needs the materials herself. He also pointed out that many essentials of German life, such as fats, came from the tropics and now are effectively cut off. "We are stopping such cargoes every day," he said.

He said the indications that Russia's action in massing troops along the Rumanian frontiers was dictated wholly by self-interest, probably as an effort to guarantee Germany should not make a raid on Rumania and gain a footing on the Black Sea.

BALKANS UNEASILY WATCH NEW MOVES

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
BUCHAREST (AP) — With eyes on Moscow for some sign of sponsorship of a strong neutrality bloc in the Balkans, Europe's southeastern capitals—especially Bucharest—worked apprehensively today to ease all possible causes of conflict.

Diplomatic circles in this Rumanian capital reported negotiations were under way at Moscow, on the initiative of Turkey, for Russian and Italian guarantees of the Balkan status quo.

Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu of Turkey, now in the Soviet capital, was said in these quarters to be discussing terms of the proposed pact with Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

Uneasiness over Russia's intentions, however, persisted among Rumanians—an uneasiness fed by rumors of Soviet troops massed along the Dniester River and prepared to seize Bessarabia at an opportune moment. The foreign office sought to allay these fears with denials.

TROOPS ON BORDER

Neutral foreign sources said there were no authentic reports to indicate any significant change in the past few days along the Rumanian-Russian frontier, now greatly expanded by the Red army's sweep into Poland.

The strength of the Soviet border forces was not known, but large numbers of troops were said to have been in position along the Dniester, which forms the Bessarabian border, since the outbreak of the German-Polish war. However, to date, they were said to have made no aggressive moves.

(Bessarabia, formerly part of the Russian empire, was joined to Rumania in 1918. Its area is 17,140 square miles and its population 2,350,000.)

Observers estimated 50,000 Rumanian soldiers were in position along Bessarabia's river boundary, watchful against the Employment Shows Gain in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Employment in Canada has not yet begun to register any wartime expansion, which is not generally looked for for several months, but the official figures for September 1 show increase in the iron and steel industry—when the seasonal trend is ordinarily downward.

In the monthly review just issued, the Bureau of Statistics announces an increase of 20,247 in employees of 11,856 reporting establishments, each with more than 15 employees. The total for September 1 is 1,165,631.

Improvement was widely distributed, the manufacturing industry added 13,100 to payrolls during August, exceeding the average increase for the period. Vegetable foods and textiles showed seasonal increases, iron and steel reversed the usual trend and also went up.

The official report describes this phenomenon as "especially interesting" in view of the fact that employment there has declined in 13 of the last 18 Augusts.

This increase is interpreted here as the first marked reflection in the records of munitions manufacture. Generally, however, no great upswing is expected for three or four months. Production has not been started on much of the orders already placed by the Dominion and British government, since time is required to adapt mills to the new production. The flow of munitions orders has scarcely started, though. The war supply board is just getting on its feet.

moment the reported neutrality talks might fail.

Rumanians feared any Soviet seizure of Bessarabia might be followed by Hungarian attempts to occupy Transylvania and Bulgarian attempts to occupy Dobruja.

COSMIC RAY TEST AT B.C. UNIVERSITY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. H. V. Neher and Dr. W. H. Picher, California Institute of Technology physicists, today studied instruments on a cosmic ray balloon they sent into the stratosphere from the University of British Columbia grounds.

The scientists are making a long chain of observations on cosmic rays, from the Arctic to Antarctic, and the observation was one in the series.

Two balloons carried their instruments into the stratosphere, where rarefied air caused the more-highly inflated one to burst. The other remained intact.

"Although cosmic rays come to us from outer space, it is evident that they do not originate in the stars," Dr. Neher said. "The nature of the ray tells us that it has not passed through much matter on its long journey to the earth."

The scientists will next go to India to continue the observations.

New War Chemistry Course at U.B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The board of governors of the University of British Columbia has approved a new course in war chemistry, three courses in physics and one course in German.

Approval of the chemistry course followed a recommendation by Dr. R. H. Clark, head of the department, that a special course in war chemistry and allied sciences be adopted in co-operation with the Department of National Defence.

In the new schedule, the chemistry of munitions will replace chemistry 2, physical and organic chemistry.

Alberta Oil Proposals

OTTAWA (CP)—Utilization of Alberta oil to a greater extent in meeting Canada's economic and military needs is proposed in a memorandum submitted to the Department of National Defence by Hon. N. E. Tanner, Alberta Minister of Lands and Mines.

The suggestions contained in the memorandum were not disclosed, but it is understood some of them raise questions of general governmental policy which can be dealt with only by the cabinet as a whole.

No Alberta Beer Cut

CALGARY — There will be no change in the size or quantity of beer served by the glass in Alberta taverns, according to Charles Trautwein, president of the Alberta Hotel Association. The decision of the association followed announcement that the Manitoba liquor control commission had ordered parlors to use smaller glasses, containing seven ounces of beer for 10 cents. In Alberta 10 cents purchases eight ounces.

Bremen Believed At Russian Port

LONDON (AP) — Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, today asserted in the House of Commons that the mysteriously missing German liner Bremen "is believed to be in a north Russian port."

The $20,000,000 liner sailed from New York August 30, only 36 hours before German troops started into Poland.

Since then no definite word of her whereabouts has been received, but there have been unconfirmed reports she had reached Murmansk, Soviet Arctic port.

Mr. Churchill made his statement in response to questions on the mystery of the German liner.

He refused to reply when asked if it were possible for a vessel to change her nationality on the high seas.

(Reports were published in Holland that the Bremen had become an Italian ship and was heading for an Italian port. This was denied, however, by official Italian spokesmen.)

MILL AT SHIRLEY DESTROYED BY FIRE

SHIRLEY—Fire yesterday destroyed the sawmill of the Boyd Lumber Company here. Many thousands of feet of lumber piled in the yard, as well as the planing mill, lath mill and the office, all went up in smoke. The bunkhouse, cookhouse and the houses of the married employees were saved after a hard fight by the crew.

The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained.

War Taxation

WHEN THE BRITISH TAXPAYER HAS digested the war budget which Sir John Simon presented to the House of Commons today he will probably shrug his shoulders, give voice to a few uncomplimentary references to Adolf Hitler, and then go about the job he has tackled with his customary philosophic calm. This is the way of the British people when they know what is expected of them, when their course is clear, and when they realize their cause is right. Naturally, they will not feel like celebrating an unparalleled increase in the income tax, new imposts on alcoholic refreshments, or costlier tobacco. They had hoped that war budgets would never again be necessary after Wilhelm Hohenzollern and his dream had been disposed of. But they will say to themselves that this man Hitler and everything for which he stands must go, that if the price of removing them means unheard-of financial sacrifice, unknown mental and physical anguish, it will be worth while.

The new income tax alone tells the tale of what war means to the wage earner. During the last conflict it reached its record level of six shillings in the pound, or 30 per cent. This has been surpassed—at seven shillings, or 35 per cent; and for the next full fiscal year it will be advanced to seven and six, or 37.5 per cent. The present rate is assessed on incomes in excess of exemptions varying from £125 a year for single persons up to £400, for example, for a married man with three children. When we Canadians consider our income tax now, or the rate it may be increased to in the event of a much longer war than is anticipated, we can think of what Sir John Simon has presented to the British taxpayer in today's budget—and regard ourselves as a great deal more than lucky. To which we also can add a sigh of relief that we do not go in hourly dread of air raids or the hundred and one other unpleasant reminders that a madman is at large.

Never before, either in war or peace, have the British people been called upon to make such severe financial sacrifices as those demanded by the present Chancellor of the Exchequer. However, he considers them vital in the scheme which calls for a contribution to the war expenses "from citizens of every kind and fortune." While his requirements hit the small wage earner, the struggling shopkeeper throughout the land, it also exacts its toll from the wealthy citizen, the large industrialist, and the moneybags against which death duties are charged. One commodity nevertheless escapes—and this is important to the English family of tradition—there is to be no increase in the duty on tea. So it will cost no more, for the time being, at any rate, to swallow this unparalleled budget with a little of "the cup that cheers and does not inebriate."

Another Scientific Pioneer

ALMOST AS THOUGH THE CABLES were bulleting the death of Pasteur, Copernicus, Newton or Galileo, came the news from London at the beginning of the week that Vienna's Professor Sigmund Freud was dead in his 84th year at Hampstead, where he had been a refugee from the Nazi fury since the German annexation of Austria last year.

A major pioneer in understanding normal and abnormal mentality in his "dissection of the human mind," Dr. Freud explored the unconscious, phantasy, instinct, emotions and sexual impulses, to place psychiatry among the sciences. Although our war-ridden world intensifies its self-destruction, if it would it could through understanding take steps towards self-preservation. This is thanks to the conceptions that this Jewish scientific explorer dug out of the thinking, feeling brain. For psychoanalysis can control man's unconscious destructiveness through recognizing it. Much of the propaganda, then, that has ravished totalitarian states and threatened the rest of the world, could be countered by a delving into its psychological implications, understood in the light of Freudian findings.

Progressive Saanich

THESE ARE NOT THE MOST PROPITIOUS times in which to create interesting diversions no matter how useful and instructive they may be. It is therefore gratifying to note that the Saanich Fall Fair this year will go down on the record as one of the most successful in its history. The officials responsible for its arrangement, the enthusiasm demonstrated by an ever-increasing number of competitors, have furnished a combination of initiative and enterprise which is not only commendable at any time but much more so in these troubled days.

The rural industries of the Saanich Peninsula play a much greater part in the progressive economy of the urban area of Greater Victoria than the average individual realizes. Only by such displays of the products of the farmers of Saanich as those which attracted such enthusiastic comments from interested spectators on its opening day yesterday is it possible for townspeople to understand to what extent their well-being depends upon the Peninsula's agricultural activity. And it was none other than the famous Luther Burbank who once said that the Saanich Peninsula should be supporting a rural working population of 20,000.

'Unfounded' Charges

ALL THE "CHARGES" BROUGHT against Vancouver's Chief Constable W. W. Foster by Mayor Lyle Telford have been dismissed by Police Commissioners Judge A. M. Harper and Deputy Police Magistrate G. R. McQueen as "unfounded." Among other conclusions and opinions expressed in their 24-page report of a lengthy investigation is the statement that the head of the police department has "the respect and confidence of his men." It is suggested, too, that the commission's summary is a repetition—with added emphasis—of the conclusion reached by Hon. W. A. Macdonald, formerly a judge, now retired, of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, in December, 1936. He testified to the efficiency of Chief Foster at that time and warned that "any change would be detrimental to the interests of the city."

How Vancouver's police affairs are conducted is Vancouver's own business; although, of course, any dilatoriness or eye-shooting to palpable malpractice there would show to be reflected in other nearby communities. Certain phases of the recent probe, however, and more especially the character of the "charges" made against Chief Foster, prompt the hope that the enforcement of law and order in Canada's third largest city will not again be hampered by a repetition of what the investigators discovered to be unwarranted and unfounded. It is bad enough if reports get abroad of really unsatisfactory conditions in a vital branch of the public service; it is much worse when widespread publicity is given to a fictitious state of affairs.

Difficult to Reconcile

ONE OF THE BOASTS WHICH FIELD Marshal Hermann Goering made recently was that Germany had fared enough to last four years and that the British and French fleets combined could not possibly bring the Reich to its economic feet. With this in mind "a highly-placed informant" in London—who has warned the British press not to become too impatient if spectacular developments on the western front do not materialize at once—does not find it easy to reconcile the exhaustive ebullitions of Nazi No. 2 with the German complaint that Britain is trying to starve women and children of the Reich. The "informant" implies that either the British campaign of economic squeeze is ineffective, "then why the fuss?" or "it is successful, and the fuss is understandable."

The likeliest explanation of the Nazi shriek of a British campaign to starve women and children is that the Hitler-Goering-Goebbels triumvirate has recognized the efficacy with which the ships of the Royal Navy are dealing with German submarines. Mr. Churchill's announcement in the House of Commons in this connection obviously was not intended as propaganda for domestic consumption or export abroad. He spoke with facts in his possession. Of course Marshal Goering would consider the attack on the Athenia a pleasant diversion for U-boat officers, not a murderous attack on helpless women and children whose only chance of escape from a watery grave within a few minutes depended upon their own courage and the tradition of the sea. However, while more than 100 aboard lost their lives, either by drowning or from the effects of the explosion of the submarine's torpedoes and subsequent shells fired from the craft's guns, the pirate slunk away to report its "heroic" exploit to Berlin.

It may be there is a promise that Hitler has kept, but who wants to go back through the files for six years.

A rumor that Hitler is guided by five astrologers is confusing. We understood all horoscopes in the Reich are now based on the movements of Adolf.

Rome's ardor for war was slightly less than wholehearted at this writing. The Duce has deserted the high balcony and may sit this one out on the mezzanine.

Selected Man Power

H. L. WEIR in Vancouver Province
The restrictions just placed by Ottawa upon the recruiting of skilled artisans for service in military units constitute one of the signs that this war is to be fought on a basis of scientific efficiency never before known in the history of international combat.

Between 1914 and 1918, young men were gobbled up by hungry battalions without any regard to their peculiar training and efficiency.

Thus we had good greengrocers transformed into farmers, skilled mechanics wasting their talent and experience in footlogging it through Flanders, engineers acting as company cooks, husky young athletes slaving away at office duties, while bankers and accountants nudged them out of a job in the trenches.

Both in Canada and in Britain, men are being sorted out, graded, examined and placed in categories of training and experience so that the governments of these countries will have at their disposal, not a mere mass of man power, but a selected mass of man power sorted and assigned according to individual peculiarities and capabilities.

As far as is humanly possible to prevent it, there will be no more square pegs in round holes. Volunteers will be assigned to the job which suits their abilities best. Necessarily this process is slow. It may arouse some criticism from those unthinking patriots who wish to see the Empire grab up an axe and wade into the slaughter. But, in the long run, this method will pay.

WRITING MAN

WAR IS PRETTY TOUGH on us writing men. Nearly everything we have ever said has all turned out wrong in the last month, though fortunately nobody has noticed it in the rush. And now none of us have the remotest idea what we are writing about. I must say it gives you a kind of freedom that you don't possess in ordinary times, and the public, even more confused than we are, doesn't seem to care.

But look what has happened to our fellow craftsman, Adolf Hitler. Now there is a writing man for you. As was said of Goldsmith, he wrote like an angel (a rather dark angel, to be sure) but talked like poor Poll. Whenever he made a silly speech, I dare say Adolf would go home at night and, as he put out the cat and wound the clock, he would say to himself: "Well, it doesn't matter, really, because they'll forget the speech, and what I really think is set down in type in 'Mein Kampf'." That is my final testament.

Well, it turns out now that Hitler has been called upon to make the author's supreme sacrifice. He has had to suppress "Mein Kampf." It seems Joe Stalin, the new neighbor next door, doesn't like his literature. He is a simple fellow, with a peasant's taste in literature, a taste running to good action stories of blood and thunder, bombs and plenty of shooting. He objected to "Mein Kampf," which called him and his friends a gang of murderers and thieves—not, of course, that Joe minded personally. He was used to that kind of thing and suspected it was true anyway, but the Russian public didn't like it.

So "Mein Kampf" has been taken off the bookshelves in Germany and out of the libraries. A complete blackout of Hitler's testament has been ordered. Well, if they can also black out the German mind, which has absorbed the book, we may begin to think there is something in the Planned Economy after all.

Somebody in Germany is bound to remember what Adolf said about Joe, and that he wasn't going to have any war with France and Britain. That is—the trouble with us writing men. Some low-down fellow always keeps a clipping.

COSTLY

THE LAST WAR cost the United States $40,000,000,000. It seemed a lot. It seemed so much, in fact, that the Americans decided to swear off war for quite a spell. They thought that war, at this rate, was the most expensive luxury they could indulge in, but they were wrong. A committee of the best experts appointed by President Roosevelt has just discovered that the depression cost the United States $200,000,000,000, five times the cost of the war. That was the loss from the idleness of men and machines in the 10 years from 1929 to 1939.

They say that it would be enough to build a new $6,000 house for every American family or to build the whole railway system from the beginning, five times over. Or, alternatively, we could go to the movies pretty frequently.

We are going to solve the problem by putting everybody to work producing for the war, but what we shouldn't forget is that when the war is over we shall be back where we started, or further back. The losses of peace will begin all over again, on top of the losses of the new war, unless we do better; unless we can apply to peace the same enthusiasm, sacrifice and intelligence that we apply to war. If we did that, the economic problem would disappear in no time.

FIRING THE COOK

THE NEWSPAPERS, very properly, are warning the people of Canada not to fire the cook, not to cut down spending on clothes, not to go on a buyers' strike, in an excess of mistaken patriotism. A learned argument in economics could centre around this advice. You could wrangle by the hour on the problem of diverting just the right amount of money into capital goods and consumers' goods, and the dangers of too much saving. But the simple fact is that if everybody gears himself into the economy of war before the nation gears itself we shall have another major depression before the war gets properly under way.

Once the nation is geared into war, once war employment has everyone at work and all business prosperous, then, perhaps, we can cut down on our spending and help the nation by diverting still more money into war purposes.

In the meantime, if you want to put the thing on a technical and scientific basis, the real patriot owes it to his country to go out today and buy a new automobile and a new fur coat for his wife, and a few bottles of the best at the liquor store (to swell Mr. Hart's revenues) and then go make whoopee with some blondes. But most of us are unequal to such sacrifice. We cannot all be heroes. At least we don't need to fire the cook or cut down on the children's candy money. That might seem like the patriotic thing, but our economic system is a funny contrivance. It absorbs patriotism slowly, and too much, all at once, will give it indigestion.

German Advance Emphasizes Canada's Technical Needs

By W. NEWTON

Local branches of the Canadian Legion have seen fit to support the scientific societies in Canada in their appeal to the universities, technical schools and independent research organizations of Canada to reorganize and enlarge their engineering and technical courses to familiarize as great a number of students as possible with the scientific methods, technique and instruments of modern warfare.

All agree that rapidly and destructiveness of Germany's advance through Poland was due to machine superiority rather than to man-power or leadership superiority. That the fate of Poland is not going to be our fate is reflected by the rapidly with which Great Britain registered and organized her scientific skill. In Canada, the frequent appeals through the press for recruits with engineering training and experience is sufficient proof that Canada's Department of National Defence is fully alive to the importance of science in modern warfare.

However, it would be unwise for Canada to depend exclusively on the facilities for technical training that are being set up so rapidly by the Department of National Defence. Our established technical and engineering schools can modify their courses to fit more closely the requirements of war without disturbing greatly the fundamental or peace-time value of their instruction. Already several universities have greatly enlarged their engineering and medical departments, in some cases at the expense of other departments deemed less essential to the present welfare of Canada and the Empire. These enlarged departments have been asked to study carefully the requirements of the Department of National Defence.

IT IS NEEDLESS to refer to the high stage of development reached in the signal units, and the remarkable modifications of radio and optical equipment that has been devised for service in the field. The War Office has recently developed rapid and simple methods of aerial photo-

War Not What It Used to Be

WAR ISN'T what it used to be. The rules and reasons for civilized fighting have changed a lot from the old war-path of the so-called savage.

This observation is drawn by Matthew W. Stirling, the Bureau of American Ethnology's chief, who has hob-nobbed with New Guinea pygmies and Ecuador's head-hunting Jivaro. The Jivaro, he says, are the most warlike people in the Americas.

"Primitive tribes observe rules of warfare more scrupulously," said Mr. Stirling, interviewed in Washington. "Certain things just aren't done. The Jivaro Indians make deadly poisoned darts. But they use them in hunting, never in warfare. It just isn't done."

Primitive wars are rarely for economic gain; the ethnologist continued, thinking over contrasts with civilized struggles. "Primitive men fight as a means of getting honors," he said, "and for the sport of the thing. And often they fight for revenge. In fact, revenge is apt to be the real motive of most primitive raiding and scrapping."

A low casualty list is another feature of primitive war, in contrast to the civilized modern variety. Mr. Stirling lays this to the fact that primitive man fights for the excitement. He can get graphically and mapping that will be of inestimable value to our forces in the field and in this new science Canada has made many notable contributions.

Those who saw the last War Office exhibit in the South Kensington Museum and recalled the vermin, "the reading of shirts" in the line during the last war, appreciate fully the value of field disinfectors that were on display. Great advances have been made in the science of sanitation, water purification and nutrition rations that protect against disease. Our educational and research institutions can accomplish much by reorganizing for war emergency purposes. Too few are familiar with the protective value of the technician in modern warfare.

THOSE WHO RECALL the blind night firing of our "archies" at enemy aircraft, will appreciate the value of the new sound locators. We naturally locate noise by turning our head until the sound waves strike both ears with equal force. The Vickers predictor or sound locator adopts the same principle. It consists of two pairs of highly sensitive ears or trumpets. One pair automatically gives the bearing and the other the elevation of the sound when the dials indicate that the noise received by all four "ears" are equal.

Those of us who served in the artillery also appreciate the value of the D. R. camera which films the shell after it leaves the gun, and thus quickly reveals faults in the rifling or other parts of the gun mechanism or in the shells themselves.

Hon. Norman Rogers has shown foresight in his attempt to prevent the withdrawal of the key men in education, industry and commerce, in his recruiting scheme, in order to preserve the economic and social stability of Canada. However, it is needless to point out that those who meet the enemy in the field carry the chief burden of war, therefore, educationists, scientists and the key men of commerce and industry can justify their work as civilians only by the support they give to those who volunteer for service on the firing line.

enough danger and sport and personal glory and satisfaction, usually, without exterminating the enemy. Plains Indians, for instance, used to count coups, meaning they rated it more of a feat of prowess to touch an enemy under hazardous conditions than to kill him off.

Among Indians on this continent wars were almost never tribal arguments, started politically. Generally, a few individuals started the scrap, and by orating they would stir up the recruits.

But right there you come to war psychology, and Mr. Stirling admits there isn't so much difference between savage and civilized war psychology. Indian war-promoters would play cleverly on the memories and grievances of the men enlisted around them.

"Remember how your grandfathers were killed! Don't forget what our fathers suffered!" No civilized soapbox orator or radio propagandist could do better.

Primitive leaders knew tricks of building morale in their fighting men, too, and the opposite manoeuvre of giving the enemy cold shivers. Jivaro, who live for war, excel at this. One of their "war of nerves" manoeuvres, says Mr. Stirling, is to send a messenger to the enemy with an imitation head on a pole.

How Stalin Sewed It Up

From New York Sun

HERR HITLER'S new partner, Comrade Stalin, caused the Supreme Soviet to ratify their bargain in time to coincide with the first guns in Poland. For a crew that had just disappointed the proletariat of the outer world by selling out to a recently-abandoned dictator, the Soviet Parliament made a jolly event of endorsing the non-aggression treaty written by its master and Germany's ruler. The spirit of the evening was abuse and ridicule of the democracies, beloved by the Soviets until Stalin found it profitable to do business with Hitler. England and France had hemmed and hawed over treaty terms; Germany was ready to buy the first garment on the rack. "We appreciated," said Foreign Commissar Molotov, "that it was difficult for Britain and France to reverse their former unfriendly attitude toward the Soviet Union." Not so with Hitler, although his reputation and his greatest strength sprang from opposition to all that Moscow was supposed to represent! Britain and France, said Molotov, feared that a pact with Moscow would strengthen the Soviets. Evidently Hitler had no such old-fashioned compunction. Commissar Molotov played the tune of friendship for all. But his words of friendliness were not broad enough to cover the disappointed radicals of the United States. They were described by him as "Socialist newspapers

Careless Pedestrians and Cyclists Cause Many Fatal Accidents

Last year 8,790 pedestrians and 3,266 cyclists were killed or injured on highways in Canada. Official investigations proved that a large percentage of these accidents were caused by the carelessness of the pedestrians and cyclists rather than the driver of the automobile.

Don't put all the responsibility on the driver's shoulders. For your sake and his be careful.

History Gleams On Churchill's Earlier Career

LONDON (CP)—Perhaps the most versatile statesman in British history, Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill finds himself at the opening of the present conflict in the same job he held at the start of the First Great War in 1914—First Lord of the Admiralty.

Twenty-five years later, a bit stout and round-shouldered, the 65-year-old journalist, author, soldier and politician returns to his historic office as civilian head of the Empire's senior fighting service. He is one of two survivors of the First Great War cabinets in the Chamberlain administration. The other is Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who was Attorney-General in 1914 and Home Secretary, 1915-16.

Viscount Runciman, who as Lord President of the Council stepped out on September 2, making way for younger men, was President of the Board of Trade in the Asquith administration of the 1914-18 period.

It is written of Winston Churchill that he has "held more offices, served in more wars and practiced more arts than any other man of his time in the British Empire." The name of Winston Churchill is highlighted in many of the crises of British history during the last half century.

WHEN TALK OF PEACE

Just now London is recalling his contribution to Britain's strengthening in September, 1914. The First Great War was then in its eighth week. There was some talk that Germany, its army overrunning Belgium and France, but its navy driven to home ports, would seek peace on fair terms to the Allies. The aggressive Churchill would have none of that. "It is no time to talk peace," he thundered at recruiting meetings up and down England. "We are just beginning."

Churchill's own efforts as First Lord of the Admiralty was a big factor in making impotent from the outset of the First Great War the German Kaiser's fleets. Appointed in 1911 with instructions to build up Britain's seapower, he had a fine modern armada by 1914. Anticipating war, too, he kept this great fleet, reviewed by King George V at Spithead July 20, 1914, on a war footing and intact. When war was declared August 4 the British ships were at their appointed stations in the North Sea, cutting off Germany's seapower and blockading her merchant marine.

Churchill's next big projects, however, were failures. The Antwerp and Dardanelles schemes brought his downfall. Some commentators say both were strategically sound and had they been

Von Papen Fails In Turkey

GERMANY'S ACE trouble shooter, Baron Franz von Papen, apparently failed in his special mission to swing Turkey away from France and England—and failure is a rare word to this 59-year-old son of a wealthy Westphalian family.

Time and again, he has handled important assignments for the fatherland. Frequently, he has been in trouble himself. Usually, he has triumphed.

The United States learned about him early in his career when, as a graduate of the German army, he was serving as military attaché in Washington. It was just before America's entry into the World War.

EXPULSED FROM AMERICA

THERE HAD BEEN a series of fires and explosions in American munition plants, aboard ships carrying supplies to the Allies. Suspicion fell on Germany's military representatives—a man whom was Von Papen. Germany recalled him on demand.

In May, 1932, President von Hindenburg appointed him Chancellor. The Nazi movement was surging; Von Papen had little enthusiasm for it. But he canceled his predecessor's abolition of the storm troopers, gained an audience for Hitler with Von Hindenburg—and later got Hitler appointed Chancellor under the belief that he could control him.

Some said Von Papen's direct partnership with Hitler couldn't last when the baron became Vice-Chancellor under the new regime. They were sure of it in 1934 when Von Papen criticized more radical features of Nazism in a speech at the University of Marburg, was forced to resign.

executed vigorously their original would have emerged the great genius of the war.

But the Germans took Antwerp and the British failed to force the Dardanelles. Churchill resigned from the cabinet November 15, 1915, and crossed to France. For six months the former First Lord of the Admiralty was lieutenant-colonel commanding the Royal Scots Fusiliers on the Western Front.

Never wanting in personal courage, Colonel Churchill, one day when shells were falling about him, was advised by a superior officer to move to another dug-out. Churchill pointed out there was no other location where he could maintain proper contact with his men.

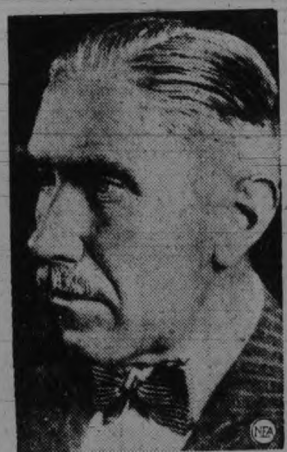

"I tell you this is a very dangerous place," said the superior officer, annoyed at the colonel's persistence.

"Yes sir," said Churchill. "But after all, this is a very dangerous war."

In 1917 Winston Churchill was recalled to the British cabinet. David Lloyd George made him Minister of Munitions and later Secretary for War. In 1918-21 he was Secretary for Air.

BECAME CHANCELLOR

Defeated in the general election of 1922 Churchill was returned again to Parliament in 1924 and

Baron Franz von Papen

Almost immediately, however, he popped into official circles again—this time as ambassador at Vienna. There he paved the way for the Anschluss, arranging the historic meeting between Hitler and Kurt von Schuschnigg, then Chancellor of Austria.

After this job, he dropped from the limelight. There were rumors that he had fallen out with his leaders, fallen into the hands of the dreaded Gestapo, Germany's secret police.

Suddenly, last April, he was ordered to Turkey as Hitler's envoy. The purpose: to prevent Turkey from making an alliance with England. In this task he failed. Now he has been lashed in an effort to recoup his losses—an effort to talk Turkey out of its decision.

became Chancellor of the Exchequer in the second administration of Stanley Baldwin. He held that post for five years until the Conservative government was ousted by the Labor forces of Ramsay MacDonald. Churchill was a consistent foe of Socialism.

It is recalled Churchill in Commons spoke strongly in favor of Edward VIII (now Duke of Windsor) before the abdication. He was one of the last to see Edward as he sailed from England December 11, 1936. Appealing to Parliament for patience in the matter, Churchill said "If an abdication were hastily extorted, the outrage so committed would cast its shadow across many chapters of the history of the British Empire."

Born November 30, 1874, oldest son of Lord Randolph Churchill and the former Jenny Jerome of New York, Winston Churchill in his youth lived in fear of being known merely as his father's son. The father was the third son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough and a one-time Chancellor of the Exchequer.

"You have done surprisingly well," said an old-timer to Winston in his earlier days. "But you owe it all to the fact you are Randy's son."

"Sir," replied the young man, "the time is coming when Lord Randolph will be chiefly remembered as the father of Winston Churchill."

EARLY CAMPAIGNS

The scion of the Marlboroughs warmed his hands at the fires of many an adventure from his teens on. Graduating from Sandhurst, he was commissioned in the Fourth Hussars. He wanted action at once and obtained leave to go to Cuba in 1895, fighting for Spain in its troubles with rebels.

In 1897 he served in the British campaign against the Mad Mullah on India's northwest frontier. Shortly afterwards he was mentioned in dispatches and received the Medal and Medal with two clasps.

Churchill was in the 1898 Anglo-Egyptian campaign which made its British leader "Kitchener of Khartoum." Churchill rode in the famous charge of the 21st Lancers at Omdurman.

He served in the Boer War (1899-1902) in a dual role of fighter and newspaper correspondent, having a commission in the South African Light Horse and an assignment for the London Daily Post. He was taken prisoner but escaped to take part in many of the major engagements of the campaign.

Churchill was an author from his youth up. With every period of war service in his earlier years he wrote a book—on occasion two or three books.

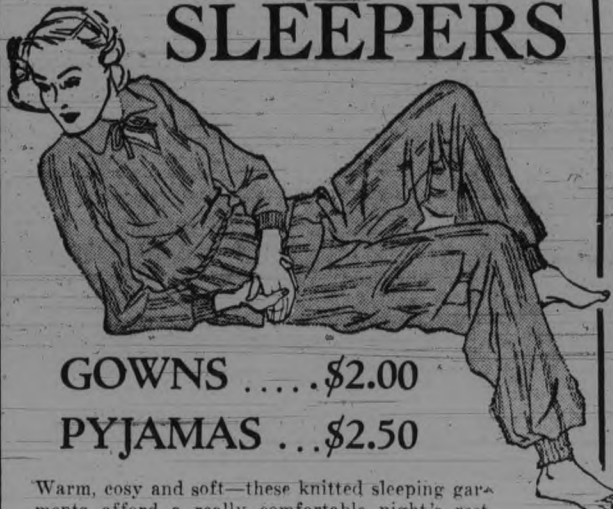

Since the First Great War his writings have included "The World Crisis," in four volumes, "My Early Life," and a monumental work on his great ancestor, "Marlborough." He has toured Canada and the United States in lecture series.

In 1908 he married Clementine Hozier, granddaughter of the Earl of Airlie. There were three daughters and one son.

W.I. Federation to Meet Soon in Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—The part to be played in helping win the war by Women's Institute members will be the theme of discussions at the 11th biennial convention of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada to be held here October 9 to 12.

Representative members from the 3,000 women's institutes, whose membership numbers approximately 75,000 will attend the meetings when Mrs. H. McGregor of Penticton, B.C., national president, will preside.

It is expected the F.W.I.C. will co-operate fully with the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women, playing a major role in handling registrations in all rural districts across Canada. Mrs. McGregor, the president, is one of the two honorary chairmen of the Voluntary Registration Committee; Mrs. George Spencer, Moncton, president of the National Council of Women, being the other.

A distinguished speaker at the convention will be Mrs. Alfred Watt, of London, organizer and president of the Associated Country Women of the World. Mrs. Watt is the former Victorian who took the women's institute idea to England in 1915.

Round-table discussions on the work of the institutes will be in charge of national conveners and many resolutions will be discussed. Mrs. Allison MacMillan of Fairview, P.E.I., will report on "Child Welfare and Public Health and the Rural Home Sanitation Campaign"; Mrs. E. Duce of Dundurn, Sask., agriculture; Mrs. Guy Humphrey of Hampton, N.B., legislation; Miss Mabel Childerhose of Rosser, Man., peace, education and international relations; Mrs. Brian Ashworth of Hull, Que., Canadianization, immigration and national events; Mrs. Freeman Lank of Bass River, N.S., Canadian industries; Mrs. W. R. Shaw of Clyde River, P.E.I., education and oyster schools; Miss Margaret Cameron of Edmonton, on home economics.

During the convention the $5,000 raffle fund raised by the women's institutes of southern Alberta will be dedicated. Handicrafts will be discussed.

B.C. SPEAKERS

Others taking part in the program will include: Mrs. A. E. Walker, Bartonville, Ont., honorary president; Mrs. Harley A. Dunham of Havelock, N.B., treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Rogers of Penticton, B.C., corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. P. Ferguson of Trochu, Alta., recording secretary; Elizabeth Bailey Price of Vancouver, editor of Canadian Home and Country, the official F.W.I.C. magazine; Mrs. A. H. Rogers of Edmonton, past national secretary; Mrs. Mary A. Clarke of Toronto; Miss Esther Thompson of Winnipeg; Professor Bertha Oxner of Saskatoon; Mrs. Vangie S. McLachlan of Victoria, and Miss Alma Weldon of Fredericton.

Delegates will be entertained at a banquet and reception. The biennial convention of the Alberta Women's Institutes will be held concurrently. Mrs. William Stewart of Peace River, one of the survivors of the Athenia sinking by a German submarine, is the provincial president.

ENGAGEMENTS

KNIGHT-BRADDOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Braddock of Ringland Hill, Errington, V.I., announce the forthcoming marriage of their elder daughter, Evelyn Mary, to Mr. George Henry Knight, M.A., Mus.Bac., A.R.C.M., L.R.A.M., son of Mr. George William Knight, C.I.E., M.A., Indian Educational Service (retired), and Mrs. Knight of Kellogg, England. The bride-elect attended St. Margaret's School, Victoria. Her fiancé was educated at Ourville School and Cambridge University. The wedding will take place at St. Mark's Anglican Church, Qualicum, on October 14, Right Rev. the Bishop of Columbia officiating. A small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents.

BUTLER-MONTAGUE

The engagement is announced of Gertrude Jean, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. M. Montague, 1325 Stanley Avenue, Victoria, and the late Dr. A. W. Montague, to J. Robson (Bob) Butler, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Butler, Summerland, B.C., the marriage to take place early in November at Summerland.

SINNOTT-LAITY

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Laity, 2183 Windsor Road, Oak Bay, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie, to Herbert Vaughan, son of Mrs. Sinnott and the late Mr. P. J. Sinnott of Victoria, the wedding to take place quietly October 14.

FORD-ALDRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. W. Aldridge, Work Point Barracks, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Eva Lillian, to Arthur George (Babe) Ford, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Ford, 1112 Greenwood Avenue, the marriage to take place early in October.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

At the recent meeting, St. John's A.Y.P.A. was conducted through the main Victoria Fire Hall on an interesting tour. Especially interesting was the switchboard system, showing how alarms are recorded. Several firemen kindly explained and demonstrated all gadgets and equipment on the engines. Members are reminded of the Corporate Communion and breakfast at 8 next Sunday. The next meeting, on Monday, is to be a work bee.

1203 DOUGLAS STREET

Panting, 174 South Turner Street, when members of the Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose, paid a surprise visit in form of a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss M. Panting, who is to be married soon. She was presented with a corsage of red roses. The color scheme, mauve and pink, was effectively carried out in the container representing an old-fashioned lady, that concealed the gifts. The evening was spent in games and singing. The supper table was attractively centred with a rose-bowl of pink dahlias and novelty pink umbrellas favors set at each place. Miss Panting cut the decorated cake and thanked all for the many good wishes. Those present were: Mrs. M. Carter, Mrs. M. Robertson, Mrs. E. Burke, Mrs. A. McAllister, Mrs. E. Harper, Mrs. M. Morry, Mrs. M. Skelland, Mrs. M. Crabtree, Mrs. E. Van Alphen, Mrs. E. Jane, Mrs. E. Cowden, Mrs. R. Panting, Mrs. S. Wetherall, Mrs. A. Bird, and Miss D. Guelpha.

Mrs. C. Bloomfield and Mrs. Max Bloomfield were hostesses last evening at a surprise linen shower at their home on Beechwood Avenue in honor of Miss Madeline Pridmore, who is to be married to Mr. J. Randall on Saturday, October 21. The rooms were made into a bower of flowers, and in the living-room was a grass mat in the middle of which stood a small white house on whose lawn were two miniature Boston terriers guarding the gifts of linen. The guest of honor received a bridal bouquet of white and pale pink asters showered with swansonia, and little Mary Foxall made the presentation. Corsage bouquets were given to the bride's mother, Mrs. H. Pridmore, and the groom's mother, Mrs. J. Randall. Games were won by Mrs. Pat Playne and Mrs. R. Kater. A buffet supper was served in the dining-room, where a silver rose bowl filled with pale pink and white asters centred the table, with silver tapers in silver candlesticks. Among the guests were Mesdames H. Pridmore, James Randall, R. Taylor, G. Gorton, R. Gorton, J. Warnock, R. English, G. Williams, P. Bugslag, J. Newlands, J. Smithson, A. Gray, R. Conway, M. Bonner, Pat Playne, A. Veals, J. Small, B. Mitchell, E. Bugslag, R. Kater, A. G. Tyler, H. Gray, H. Anderson, J. Webb, and Misses M. Gorton, Dorothy Warnock, I. and P. Isbister, Betty Randall, Sue Ferrie, Eileen Ferrie, Eileen Porter, Jean Beales, C. Simpson, M. Leonard, F. Ferrie, Pauline Vincent, A. Kater and Elsie Anderson.

The junior music pupils of Miss D. Moore spent an enjoyable afternoon Saturday at her home, 1280 Fort Street, the occasion being a birthday party. She was the recipient of many bouquets of lovely flowers, also numerous other gifts. The afternoon was spent in games. Tea was served at dusk, at the end of which was brought in an iced birthday cake with a tall rose candle set in a cluster of icing roses in the centre. After tea a movie show was put on by John Gelling which delighted all the young guests. Those helping were Doris Doncaster and Phyllis Harwood. The pupils present were: Phyllis Harwood, Alvin Hardy, Maureen Campbell, Raymond Rolph, Shirley Boulton, John and Bob Gelling, Don Taylor, Doreen Knott, Joyce Currie, Dorothy Woodward, Deirdre McKenzie, Eileen Hunt, Betty Petch, Lillian Easton, Gayle Whitter, Bob and John Canova, Mavis Guy, Joan Lindsay, Garth Jones, Joyce Thompson, Peter Sinclair, Olive Inglis, Catherine Firth, Valerie McAllister, Wilma and Lois Dyson, Alfred Hughes, Alice and Dorothy Windle. Other guests were Vivienne, Nornie and Michael, John Challer, Glyn Jones, Anne Firth and Betty Woodward.

Lord Tweedsmuir's Son Is Engaged

LONDON (CP Cable)—The engagement was announced today of William James De l'Eglise Buchanan, second son of Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir, and Miss Nesta Irene Crozier, only daughter of Lieut.-Colonel C. D. Crozier, late of the Royal Artillery, and Mrs. Crozier, of Culham Holme Farm, Abingdon, Berkshire.

The announcement said the marriage would take place shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. George McAdams of Duncan announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Winifred Mary, to Roger Gilbert Phillips, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips, 150 Croft Street, Victoria, the wedding to take place quietly on October 14, at 8.30 p.m.

Attractive Tables Win Prizes at Tea

Many novel and attractively decorated table settings were in evidence at the very successful silver tea, and decorated-table contests held in the First United Church gymnasium yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the various groups of the Women's Association of the church.

Mrs. A. S. Christie, president of the general executive, acted as general convener, and each of the 14 groups entered a table and filled it with its full complement of guests, about 300 enjoying the afternoon's program.

Prizes were awarded for attractiveness and originality. Mrs. Ernie Maynard and Mrs. Harry English were the judges, and the awards went to the Summit Group, arranged by Mrs. H. D. Hutchinson, whose table showed a simple, but beautiful, arrangement of peach-colored dahlias, with matching tapers and a hand-made lace cloth, and the Oak Bay group's table, arranged by Mrs. M. Dorman and Mrs. R. H. McDougall.

Honorable mention was made of the Stadacona group's table, featuring all the industries of British Columbia, and the Beacon Hill group's table. The prizes were presented to the winners by Mrs. Hugh McLeod, and the judges were thanked by Mrs. R. W. Mayhew.

The delightful musical program included vocal solos by Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Mrs. Charles Goodwin, and readings by Miss Hope Denbigh, Miss Kathleen Irving and Mrs. W. G. H. Firth were the accompanists. Rev. Hugh McLeod spoke briefly, and Mrs. Walter M. Walker made the vote of thanks to the artists. The proceeds, which realized a substantial sum, will be added to the church funds.

Clubwomen's News

All notices intended for publication in this column on Saturdays must be written and handed in not later than Friday morning.

The W.A. to the Navy League will hold its first meeting of the season on Friday at 2.30 in the rooms in Hibson-Bone Building.

The Ladies' Aid of Knox Presbyterian Church met recently at the home of Miss Mary McPhail, Forbes Street. Mrs. J. M. Cooper, president, in the chair. In the future the meetings will be held on the first Thursday of each month, the next meeting to take the form of a silver tea, with a program.

W.A. Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion B.E.S.L., resumed their card socials in the clubrooms Tuesday evening. Progressive whist was played, the prizewinners being: Mrs. E. Dawes, Mrs. B. Ripley, Mrs. L. Impey and J. Redman; specials, Mrs. H. George and Mrs. E. Denton. Refreshments were served by Mrs. L. Quaintance and staff. Mrs. E. McKinnon was in charge of the cards.

Reservations for the bridge tea to be held by the Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, I.O.E.E., Friday afternoon in the dining-room of David Spencer Ltd., have been most promising. Mrs. Peter Cunningham, regent and general convener, is in charge of reservations, which may be made by telephoning E 8582. She is being assisted by Mrs. W. A. Parrott and Mrs. G. E. Warner. Play will commence at 2.30 and players are asked to bring their own score pads and cards. Tea guests will be welcomed at 4.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Is it all right to ask a member of the bride's family what silver pattern she has selected?
2. Should a wedding gift be something which both the bride and groom can use or enjoy?
3. Is it all right for parents to give a son or daughter a cheque for their wedding present?
4. In telling friends what relatives gave, should a bride mention the size of a cheque?
5. Is it better for a friend to give a gift than a cheque?

What would you do if—
A young couple to whose wedding you have been invited have few material possessions and very little money. You are wondering what sort of present to buy for them. Would you—
(a) Find out what they need, and give them something they would have to buy, were it not given to them?
(b) Give them something they don't really need—on the theory that a gift shouldn't be practical?

Answers
1. Yes.
2. Yes.
3. Yes.
4. No. But she can say, "Uncle Oscar gave us a cheque."
5. Yes.
Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(a).

Weddings

BARTELS-SMITH

PORT ALBERNI—Chrysanthemums, asters, peonies and marigolds formed a floral background for the wedding on Saturday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, when Donna Adele, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith, was united in marriage of Mr. Richard Bartels, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bartels of Delta Avenue, Vancouver.

Rev. A. McLean performed the ceremony, and Mrs. P. Corbett was at the organ. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. William Mosher. During the signing of the register "I Love You Truly" was sung by Mr. Egbert Rhodes, accompanied by Mr. Elwood Smith.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Stanley Smith, the bride wore a gown of ivory chiffon de soie, with bolero of Madeira lace, and a coronet of orange blossoms and heather, and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white gladioli. Mrs. J. Clarke, her sister, was matron of honor, in golden georgette over satin, and carried a bouquet of bronze and gold chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, gowned in marble blue ensemble and corsage of mauve and white asters, received the guests, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. F. Olander and Mrs. P. Herbertson. The bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake, pink tapers in crystal sconces, and festooned with sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartels left for a short trip to Victoria, the bride wearing a wool suit in deep rose color with matching accessories. They will take up residence in the Alberni Valley area.

CHURCHILL-KIRCHIN

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kirchin, 641 Ardserier Road, announce the marriage of their second daughter, Doris Maude (Mickey) Kirchin, to Mr. R. S. Churchill, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Churchill, 1105 72nd Avenue West, Vancouver. The wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Wesley United Church, Vancouver, in May. They were attended by the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rawlings. The young couple will make their home in Vancouver.

ROSS-WHITE

Announcement is made of the wedding which took place quietly recently between Phyllis Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White, 1801 Hollywood Crescent, and Francis Henry Ross, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ross, 166 Eberts Street.

Opening Night for 'Y' Seniors Tomorrow

Tomorrow evening at 8, the senior department of the Y.W.C.A. will commence fall and winter activities with the annual "opening night." All former club girls and others interested in this type of winter activity are cordially invited to be present. Members of the Girls' Work Committee and Senior Girls' Council will be hostesses.

The program will include skits, "The Princess of March" and "The Seven Dwarfs," by the Omphalos Club; a sing-song led by Miss D. Beech, with Miss Jean Routley at the piano; vocal selections by Miss Routley; greetings from the board of directors, brought by Mrs. B. S. Heisterman, president; introduction of administrative staff and club leaders, and a merry-go-round contest. The theme for the evening is the "World's Fairs," and attractive posters will be on display showing material gathered by recent visitors to the fair. Enrollment for the winter activities will be received at gay "fair booths."

Big Tourist Traffic

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—The British government's declaration of war on the Sunday preceding Labor Day did not stop United States tourists from entering the Dominion. Traffic over the Peace Bridge was heaviest of the summer.

BABY CONSTIPATED?

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses something, may be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. John T. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven, can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children—safe and effective for the tiniest infant. I give them up to 10 years of age. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or irritability. Equally effective for simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic, simple croup and other minor ailments of babyhood. Quick and sure in their action. Easy to take. Harmless, and safe. Do not contain opiates or stupefying drugs. Each package contains analyst's certificate. Get a box today. Sickens so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied."

Hi-Y Girls to Meet At Deep Cove Camp

An intensive period of training for new presidents of Hi-Y clubs and members of the Inter-club Council of the Girls' Hi-Y will take place this coming weekend, September 29-30 and October 1. The delegates will leave Victoria on Friday at 5 for Deep Cove, where the conference is to be held at the summer camp of Miss Phoebe Riddle, who has generously offered this hospitality.

"Workshop" periods on all phases of the Girls' Hi-Y program will be carried out throughout the week-end, with Miss Doris Jones, general secretary, and Miss Dorothy Beech, girls' work secretary, contributing. Outdoor activities will also have a part in the plans. Morning worship will start off each day and opportunities will be given to learn many new songs and social helps for clubs.

Among those who plan to attend the conference are: Audrey Prior and Marie Sweeney, Esquimalt High School; Muriel Prendergast and Jean McAskill, Mount View; Mary Welchman and Elsie Ingledew, Mount Douglas; Brenda Kent, Pearl Keating, Rosemary Watson and Faith Sinclair from Oak Bay, Victoria, and the Junior High Schools, respectively. Ex-Hi-Y will be represented by Miss Jo Perri. Advisers will include Miss Anne Adamson, Miss Suzanne Butler, Miss Kitty Cameron, and Miss Phoebe Riddle. The conference will be under the direction of Miss Dorothy Beech.

Transportation is being arranged through the Girls' Work Committee, and it is planned that the party will return to Victoria on Sunday afternoon.

Canadian Girl Wed To German Count

OTTAWA (CP)—It was reported today Bridget Dunn, daughter of Sir James Dunn, president of the Algoma Steel Corporation, had been married in Germany since the outbreak of war to Count Peter Wolff Metternich, wealthy young German land owner.

She was to have been married to Count Metternich in October, but well-informed friends today "presumed" Miss Dunn and the count were married at once. As a British subject, the alternative might have been an interment camp.

The W

Presbytery

War Attitude Voiced

The church should exercise a ministry of understanding and reconciliation, thus seeking to overcome hatred and world discontent, was the opinion of the Victoria and Island Presbytery with reference to conditions of strife existing at the present time.

The view was expressed at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the annual fall session of the Presbytery held in the Metropolitan Church.

A two-hour debate resulted in a statement, submitted by Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, Victoria, evangelist and social service committee chairman, on the church's attitude towards the present world conflict. It was finally agreed by the delegates—over 60 ministers and laymen from all parts of the island—that the statement voiced a proper attitude on the subject.

The statement read, in part:

"Whereas the belief of the United Church of Canada is that God is the universal Father of all man, revealed supremely in Jesus Christ and not an exclusive nationalistic deity, it follows that fratricidal strife is contrary to the will of the Heavenly Father. We believe this is the ultimate Christian ethic brought to light by Christ, who gave Himself in loving sacrifice on the cross.

"In a democratic country it is the duty of each citizen to inform himself as to the causes and issues of any war in which his country may be engaged, and thus to find a true basis for his own attitude and conduct. The difficulty is recognized, but the duty is imperative to the maintenance of an adequate Christian democracy.

"We call our people to repentance, confessing our sin as participating in a world order which makes war possible if not inevitable.

"We should take such steps as part of the universal church, to support the right of the church to spiritual freedom in every land.

"This could be established by the ecumenical church striving by every possible means to maintain fellowship across the international and interracial borders.

"And finally the church should advocate the establishing of a world order productive of righteousness as the foundation of permanent peace.

"We urge that in the hour of the Empire's distress and need, such organization as can in a practical manner implement those activities induced by war and which lead to the binding of wounds and healing the brokenhearted, lend wholeheartedly their organized stand to those ends, having in mind particularly Red Cross activities."

Last evening's meeting of the Presbytery carried on with business matters and committee reports, with Rev. William Allan, chairman of the Presbytery, in the chair.

TO CARRY ON

It was recommended by John Goldie, Victoria, convener of the missionary and maintenance committee during the afternoon meeting, that the Presbytery again undertake the collection of $19,000 for the work in this section.

"The program of the church should not in any way be restricted," was the expression voiced.

At last evening's meeting it was announced that two members of the general council executive, Dr. J. W. Woodside, Ottawa, moderator of the United Church, and Dr. J. Arnup, foreign missions secretary, would visit Victoria next month. Arrangements for the visit were discussed.

During the day, Jack Ewan, newly-appointed provincial boys' work secretary, was introduced to the delegates. Mr. Ewan gave an outline of the work being planned by the Religious Education Council for the coming year. Other committee reports heard were: Home missions, by Rev. Bryce Wallace; students' committee, by Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, and the finance committee, by J. Johnston.

LIGHTING STORY TOLD KIWANIS

The history of artificial light from the cave man's use of fire to the use of modern electrical neon fixtures formed the subject of an address given by William A. Bayliss to members of the Kiwanis Club at lunch in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Bayliss, who is president of the Bayliss Neon Sign Company in Victoria, said that even though artificial lighting had advanced to great lengths, still further changes and improvements would be seen during the next few years.

Light was a form of energy which reached the eye through the form of waves. There were different types of waves which carried light, and the speaker pointed out each with illustrations.

The bigger part of his address was taken up with the tracing of the many different types of lamps used through the ages.

The invention of the electric lamp by Thomas Edison opened up great fields in the electrical advertising business, he said. The first electrical signs which appeared were somewhat crude in comparison with present-day pieces.

Neon lighting replaced the electrical bulb signs presenting a smoother and more realistic sign. Neon was a gas discovered in 1855 by an English scientist, Ramsay. There was one part of neon to 80,800 parts of air. The speaker explained the filling of tubes with the gas and the resulting light.

At the close of his address, Mr. Bayliss presented the club with a small sign of the Tuberculosis prevention campaign emblem, to be used in the Kiwanis workshop. Geoffrey Walton was introduced as a new member. Austin Curtis presided.

DRY SPELL HITS SUPPLY OF WATER

Notice has been received by the B.C. Electric Railway Company from the city engineer that, due to the reduced amount of water at present available at Goldstream, the city is no longer in a position to supply the company with the extra 15 million gallons of water a day that it has been using at its Goldstream hydro-electric plant.

Commenting upon this, G. M. Tripp, general superintendent of the company, said: "This means we shall only be able to operate our Goldstream plant eight hours a day instead of twenty-four as we have been doing during the last two months or more. However, this will in no way affect the general power supply to the city and surrounding districts as all present requirements will be taken care of by water stored at our Jordan River plant."

In reply to a question as to what would happen should the present dry spell be unusually prolonged, Mr. Tripp explained that the steam plant at Brentwood Bay could be brought into operation whenever necessary. Mr. Tripp also stated that the company would, of course, prefer to continue the use of extra water at Goldstream, if it were available, rather than send money out of the country for fuel oil, especially under the present war conditions.

25 Years Ago

PARIS—An official statement issued this afternoon says that the armies of the allies and the Germans are in closest contact everywhere, and that the bayonet fighting generally is favoring the allies. A vigorous German offense has been thrown back in the region of Berru and Nogent l'Abesee.

PARIS—Race horses valued at $70,000—belonging to Jefferson Davis Cohn of New York, have been seized at Chamont by the Germans. Cohn's horses are now ridden by officers attached to General von Kluck's staff.

A shipment of 22 horses is providing much strenuous and exciting work for the local squadron of the B.C. horse. Yesterday and today the cavalrymen had their future mounts. The strength and spirit of the animals is such that it will take some days to render them accustomed to being ridden.

OTTAWA—Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, issues a warning to Canadians that German firms are endeavoring to retain trade in the Dominion through American agencies. He makes an appeal to have no trade with German firms and to loyally support producers and manufacturers of the Empire.

Saanich Seeks New Fire Truck

Saanich will call bids for a new fire truck to replace present equipment considered obsolete. Decision to acquire the new truck was reached at the council meeting last night as the municipality also went on record as giving Victoria its moral support in asking the Dominion Government to assume guard duties on the city watershed.

On the latter point Saanich declared it could not assist the city in meeting the $1,500 the patrol has already cost, nor could it help to finance the existing reduced guard.

The council clamped down on removal of soil from lots in the municipality, declining requests from individuals seeking permission to cart away dirt. Soil removal, it was pointed out, increased flood conditions in certain points and reduced land values.

On that ground the application of Richard Layritz to take part from Swan Lake property he owned, and the request of G. H. Walton to remove black soil from a Queenswood swamp were turned down.

Tenders for the fire truck will be accepted up to noon October 10. Specifications were left in the hands of Councillor E. C. Warren, fire and water committee chairman; Fred Parkinson, fire chief; E. A. Bleathman, head mechanic, and H. H. Allan, municipal engineer. The municipality now has two trucks.

Granting rubbish fire permits was delayed until a change in the weather, owing to the fire hazards caused by the recent prolonged dry spell.

Pending a report on the views of 16 property owners in the area, the council deferred action on the proposal to zone a strip of land 300 feet wide from Victoria Drive, adjoining Mount Douglas Beach, around Gordon Head, to Haro Road. A petition from 68 residents asked that a minimum of 1,000 square feet be set for houses, which should be of single family type, and built 50 feet from the street line.

The scheme was termed "class legislation" by certain councillors.

Ralph Rendle, Stanhope Dairy Farm, was granted a $600 building permit for a barn on Richmond Road.

Carl Laemmle Estate $4,000,000

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Carl Laemmle Sr., 72, pioneer motion picture producer who died Sunday night of a heart attack, left an estate estimated at $4,000,000, reading of his will disclosed.

In addition to his two children, Carl Jr. and Rosabelle, to whom annuities revert, provision is made for his two brothers, his secretary and family servants.

In the envelope containing his will were letters addressed to his children, directing that they continue the foundation Laemmle established for the care of refugees and needy friends. The former include 200 persons whom he brought from his native Germany and kept on his personal payroll.

When laminated glass was first patented in England in 1885, the idea was not safety but the decorative feature of colored glass between clear sheets.

Letters to the Editor

BRITISH AND GERMANS MUST UNITE TO SAVE THEMSELVES FROM RUSSIA

To the Editor:—It is now evident that the system of shovelling out money (which was not earned) in five-year plans—factories, armaments and the building of palatial hotels for the masses, etc., has ended as all ill-devised and badly-managed schemes of government must end, in bankruptcy. We are now witnessing a colossal attempt on the part of Stalin to refinance his government at the expense of Germany and any other nations who happen to be weak enough to submit. The success of this scheme, or its failure, depends entirely on the German people. It is imperative that the Germans should act at once—by throwing out Hitler and his regime lock, stock and barrel, accept the peace terms offered by her "enemies" on the Western Front and then unite with them to push Russia back where she belongs before it is too late.

COLIN W. CHALMERS.

STALIN AND HITLER

To the Editor:—I was much interested in the information contained in your issue, September 25, showing pictures of the seven top leaders of Hitler's German Junker fraternity and the amount of their personal fortunes which aggregate around $40,000,000.

From the point of view of private ownership I suppose there can be nothing wrong in seven men owning $40,000,000 in capital. In our own country there are individuals who own even more than those seven. Germans altogether. Today it must give well-informed people a pain to see so much in print stating that Hitler and Stalin stand for the same thing. Their political fundamentals are as different as chalk and cheese. Citizens of Russia need not become millionaires for security. They, through public ownership of the land and natural resources, are joint stock owners in their country.

It is only under such a system that production and consumption can be made to balance. When people have direct access to the land and natural resources there is no more need to save or "take thought for the morrow" than there is for a ship at sea to hoard up salt water. When individuals cannot acquire clear title to wealth-producing property or pass it along to others, who "toil not neither do they spin," then poverty, unemployment and major crime must cease.

Hitler stands for private ownership in its last and most vicious phase. Stalin for the exact opposite.

PROFIT-SEEKING

To the Editor:—I would like to submit to the Attorney-General at least one obvious instance of profiteering which vitally affects every member of the community.

Since the outbreak of the war there have been at least three separate increases in the price of butter, but investigation has shown that there has been no increase whatever in the price paid to the producers of milk, from which butter is made.

The farmer who gets up at 3 a.m. to milk his cows so the public may receive its regular supply of butter cannot therefore be accused of profiteering. Cows have not gone on strike for more and better feed. There has been no increase in wages in the dairy industry. Nor has the cost of transportation or distribution shown any advances. The mayor of the city has pointed out that there was obviously a considerable surplus of butter in the country, since the government had arranged for free distribution of considerable quantities of it to recipients of relief.

Hoarding of butter on the part of consumers is quite impossible, as that would entail individual possession of gigantic refrigerating machinery. Yet, immediately on the declaration of war, the price to the consumer is increased and has continued to increase. The obvious reason for this situation can be summed up in one word, "profiteering."

Whether that profiteering is attributable to the manipulations of middlemen or to downright speculation, the general public has no means of determining. But the government has the power and machinery at its disposal for establishing the facts, and should see to it immediately that the law is observed, and should observe the law itself.

A country involved in war, especially a war for the preservation of democracy, demands above all things equality of sacrifice. Already the mothers of Victoria, and the mothers throughout the whole of Canada, are saying that their sons shall not be sacrificed on the battlefields of Europe in order that others may make a profit out of their blood and misery and tears.

Let us be done, at once and for all, with this vicious business of profiteering. Let the Attorney-General act now!

OUR NEAREST THREAT

To the Editor:—We of this farthest west must not forget that the nearest threat to our British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and Californian coasts is likely to come not across the Atlantic, but from over the Pacific. Is any man of us so easy as to believe the soft words of the Japanese war-lord government, any more than we do the promises of Herr Hitler of Munich?

Dr. W. A. Petzoldt, addressing the Rotary Club, said: "The future safety of our democratic world depends much more on what is happening in the Orient than elsewhere. . . . If you do not fall them, eventually in your hour of need they will not fail you."

F. W. L. MOORE,

HITLERISM MORE THAN HITLER

To the Editor:—The tragic collapse of Poland as an independent state, which unhappily is a fact that must be accepted, inevitably entails upon her allies the question, though doubtless in a different spirit from that in which the triumphant Hitler has put it, what do we continue to fight for?

If the objective now is the ending of Hitlerism, this should be given at least as much weight of the pros and cons as was given, it may be presumed, to the original motive for beginning the war. Two leading questions then suggest themselves. First, is it possible to end Hitlerism by war? On all the evidence available Hitlerism, so far from being the activity of a clique which has gained temporary control over an unwilling people, is rather the exultantly-accepted and avowed expression of the will of an overwhelming majority of that people. Hitlerism is a state or even a type of mind, and the Allies must ask themselves whether a type of mind can be changed by war.

It may help us to answer that question if we reverse it and ask if it is likely that the typical mentality of the British or the French could be changed and made receptive of Hitlerism by the process of waging war against them. The only alternative, crushing all means to exercise the will to power, which is Hitlerism, cannot reasonably be expected since all the uncounted outlay of blood and treasure in the World War failed to do so.

Secondly, it is practical to ask ourselves how it is that upon Britain and her sister Commonwealths, together with France, alone devolves the task of restraining Hitlerism. It is difficult to see why this is not more closely the concern of the seven states which, besides France and Italy, border upon Germany and have her for a dangerous neighbor.

And if Hitlerism is a menace to democracy in general, the United States, not to speak of the South American republics, are as much concerned as Canada. Yet all these countries reserve the right to maintain a strictly neutral position. By what law must British and Canadian youth die while American, Swiss, Belgian, Dutch, Danish, Lithuanian, Hungarian and Yugoslavian youth go free?

Britain and France have honorably discharged their treaty obligations to Poland. If hostilities should cease now that the enterprise has failed, there can be no dishonor. It will not be the first time that Britain has had to bow to the hard logic of facts. In a somewhat similar case after the collapse of the resistance of the Czarist loyalists, she was forced to withdraw her troops sent to their aid and terminate hostilities with the victorious Soviets.

The Queen of Holland's speech from the throne offers a way of mediation in which doubtless the smaller neutral powers which had previously proffered their aid would join. Possibly President Roosevelt, who before hostilities took an active part on behalf of peace, would also act. Such friendly mediation would enable the Allies to withdraw from their present position with dignity and would also broaden the basis of safeguards against further aggression.

G. E. ALTREE COLEY.

To Aid Allies

BEIRUT, Syria (CP-Havas)—Members of the Arab Higher Committee, who have been living in exile near here since the outbreak of disorders in Palestine, have appointed delegates to confer with Moslem leaders throughout the Near East on plans for co-operation with the Allied forces in the new war. It was learned here. Authoritative Arab sources said a delegation representing Palestine Arabs was en route to Baghdad to confer with Nuri Pasha Said, premier of Iraq, and Moslem leaders from Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Transjordan.

It was believed the Arabs would drop their demands for an immediate settlement of the Palestine issue until after the war and organize an "Arab legion" that trail the ground.

Opening Clash Here Saturday

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

BILLY CONN has proven to the fight world, and Mello Bettina in particular, his right to hold the world light-heavyweight championship. After Conn, the Pittsburgh flash, lifted the crown from Bettina a few weeks back, there was a lot of talk among the faithful questioning the decision handed him over the Beacon, N.Y., southpaw. Conn, in the manner of a true champion, granted Bettina a return bout and didn't even bother going after a guarantee for another scrap should Mello whip him. That's real confidence.

It has been a long time since the 175-pound division has had a ruler worth writing about, but the handsome Conn belongs definitely to the old school. You've got to go back to Georges Carpentier, Harry Greb, Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney to find a 175-pounder capable of attracting real large gates. Conn and Bettina drew $65,000, one of the largest turnouts in the history of boxing in Pittsburgh.

Providing he hurdles Gus Lesnevich in their title bout in Madison Square Garden this winter there is talk of Conn taking on one of the ranking heavyweights, possibly Bob Pastor, who recently succumbed after 10 rounds to the dynamite in the fists of champion Joe Louis. But it appears that the clever Pittsburgh youngster will have to wait at least a year before he will be a full-grown heavyweight. He might easily outbox and outspeed Pastor, but the New Yorker is a bit too large for him at the present time.

Conn went in as low as 172 for his second fight with Bettina, and it now appears as though he will be able to defend the 175-pound crown for another year in so far as weight-making is concerned. And as long as he can do that he will not be big enough for Louis. Conn is not 22 until next month. Standing slightly more than six feet, he has the frame of a big man. He is the agile kind who do not lose their speed with the taking on of poundage. The big championship now held by Louis is Conn's goal, but he must wait until his heavyweight structure fills out.

Conn is like Jack Dempsey and Jimmy Braddock outside the ring. Success with his fists has left the Irish lad unchanged. He remains the bashful, unassuming lad he was while growing up in the gym. The biggest thrill of his life, he says, came a few weeks ago when he moved his family into a new home and went out and bought new furniture for every room.

Conn prefers to hang around with the same fellows he knew as kids in the East Liberty section of Pittsburgh. He puts on no airs, no affectations. He mentions his title only when teasing his younger brother Jackie. Conn has built up a tremendous personal following. Billy's fight Monday night was his first start at home since he built up an international reputation.

Coach George Deacon will send his Victoria Revellers onto the battlefield for their first taste of competitive ball Saturday afternoon when they are billed to collide with Knights of Columbus from Vancouver in the opening local game of the Big Four Canadian rugby football series.

The match will be played at MacDonald Park, with the kick-off slated for 3.

In top physical shape after many weeks of intensive training under the experienced eyes of the coaching staff, the Revellers are fast developing into a smart, snappy outfit and Deacon believes they will be able to make a creditable showing against the Vancouver club.

MAKES COMEBACK

Canadian football has been absent from the local sports picture for several years. This made it necessary for Coach Deacon to mold his team out of green material, but he has a number of players in his line-up who are experienced. While he does not expect too much from the boys this year, he believes he has the makings of a championship squad.

The Revellers are a fast-moving team and the opposition is also reported to be fast and features an open, running game, which indicates there will be lots of rugged action in store for the fans.

The local backfield is young and fast, and Deacon has got quite a bit of weight in the front line.

Just a matter of two weeks ago, the local club was handed a punishing blow when the war resulted in several of the best players being forced to abandon their piskin activities. To make matters worse, five players were injured this week, including Jimmy Smith, former North Shore inside-wing, who Deacon was banking on a lot. He fractured his ankle at a practice. Joel McCormick broke his leg at work, and Jack Anderson, Wes McTaggart and Frank Mylrea suffered lighter injuries. The latter two may be all right for Saturday's game, however.

But the coach will, nevertheless, have enough players on hand for two full teams—24.

From Vancouver it was learned recently the K. of C. grabbed seven of the best players who were left orphaned when the Meralomas disbanded. This has made a title threat out of the mediocre 1938 Knights.

Deacon in announcing a tentative line-up today said the Revellers would be strong at middle wing, with Dave Jenkins, Buss Anderson and Bob Mair handling those chores. Don Garrison, considered a most promising player, is an inside wing, along with Tubby Ley and Pete Morgan.

Ends will probably be Bill Brodigan and Groff Murdock and Frank Mylrea and Wes McTaggart. Bill Thompson, big, powerful and fast, will be doing the plunging, while choices for wing halves will be Don McLean, Brent Murdock, Wilf Moody and Jack Grogan. Moody is a former member of Winnipeg St. Paul's.

Bill Gornall will be the flying wing. And 220 pounds in the form of Flint McKim will be working at centre.

Women's Golf

Champion Defeated

Defeat of Miss Peggy Hodgson, defending champion, after a 21-hole battle, featured the opening of match play in the women's city golf championship at the Uplands Club yesterday.

The titleholder fell before Miss Joan Fletcher, home club member, making her return to competitive golf after a long layoff through illness.

Mrs. E. Jackson, Monday's medalist, advanced with a decisive 6 and 5 victory over Miss Maureen Hill. Mrs. Arthur Dowell, present U.C. champion, found little trouble eliminating Miss J. Robinson, 5 and 3. Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve marked the most convincing win of the round, defeating Mrs. G. Silburn, 7 and 6.

Miss Marjorie Todd, a former champion from the Victoria Club, failed to get past the first round, being defeated by Miss Mary Thorne, 5 and 3.

Complete results follow:

Baseball
NEW YORK (AP)—The big world series question at this time is not can New York Yankees win their fourth straight world baseball championship—but can the National League champions take a game from the leaders of the American League.

By National League champions, it is the general feeling that Cincinnati Reds will be in that spot when the Yanks go after the world title.

The big question is, can pitchers Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer stop one of the greatest ball clubs of all time for just one afternoon? And the Yankee answer to this pitching pair seems to be Red Ruffing, Monte Pearson, maybe Lefty Gomez, Steve Sundra, Atley Donald, Bump Hadley and Marius Russo.

Bucky and Paul have been invaluable to Cincinnati but the way the Reds have had to fight right down to the wire has done neither of them any good. They've won more than 50 games between them so far but they've seen plenty of work these last couple of weeks.

Against that set-up, Ruffing, Gomez, Pearson and Co. have been having the life of Riley. The Yanks clinched the American League flag back in mid-September.

Crucial Struggle Billed Tonight

All even now, with a win apiece, Alert Service and Conservatives, powerful senior box lacrosse septettes, will battle for the place against James Bay in the play-off final tonight when they meet at the Willows sports auditorium in the deciding scrap of their preliminary playoff.

Conservatives took the first game of the series 24 to 23, and the blueshirts came back to tie it up Monday with a 21 to 17 triumph.

The first two games of the series showed that the teams are as evenly matched as two clubs could be and a great struggle is anticipated this evening before the winner is determined.

It will be the final half of a two-game program, which will start at 7.15, with Saanich Youth Liberals and McLean's Bakery meeting in the second half of their juvenile city championship playoff. The Saanich lads won the first game 20 to 18 after overtime. The main tussle tonight will start around 8.45.

McLean's team follows: Taylor, Porter, J. Lott, Watson, Ludbrook, Popham, Holmes, Braithwaite, G. Lott, Bishop, Penketh, Lea, McCaghey and Jones.

J. E. Sladen Heads Brentwood Club

J. E. Sladen was elected president of the Brentwood Badminton Club at the annual meeting held this week at Brentwood. Rom Knott, well-known player, was chosen vice-president. Charlie Douglas was the choice for club captain and Miss M. Sluggett was made women's captain.

Mrs. J. Carrier was chosen secretary. Maurice Atkins is the official referee.

The meeting decided that play will be ushered in Tuesday, October 3.

On Friday night the club will hold its first dance of the season.

City Entries to Close On Oct. 7

Closing date for entries in the Victoria and District Basketball League was set for October 7 at a meeting held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. George Gordon, president, was in the chair.

Teams intending to enter in the various divisions of the circuit are asked to register at Harris' Cycle Store, Fort Street, as soon as possible.

In the senior A men's division, Domingos, present holders of the national championship, have already filed their entry. Senators are also entered and officials are expecting Northwesterns to enter a quintette in 1939-40 competition.

Eight Aces, Caveys and Bomb-ers are the only entries in intermediate A company to date. Units are the only team in the women's senior A division and Adverts are entered in the intermediate loop. Cardinals are also entered in the women's league.

Announcement was made to the effect that Albert "Red" Martin, former member of the Dominos, has been reinstated by the Canadian Association through the provincial body.

Officials discussed the idea of playing league games at the Victoria High School gym. They will approach the school board concerning the floor.

Patrick Wants Two Forwards

NEW YORK (CP)—Hint of snow filled the air around Gotham's spires yesterday as Manager Lester Patrick sat in his snug office with a problem before him—filling two forward spots in New York Rangers' National Hockey League lineup.

"I don't care where they come from," Lester explained. "The jobs are open to fast, sharp-shooting forwards. Right now any person who can skate and handle a stick has a chance."

Patrick mentioned Edgar La Prade, centre of Port Arthur Bear Cats, Allan Cup holders, as possible timber. Then there was Joe Krol of Winnipeg, Kilby Macdonald of Ottawa and Lude Waring of Regina, standouts last year with Philadelphia Ramblers, Rangers' International-American League club. Alf Pike of Winnipeg and Stan Smith of Cold Creek, B.C., New York Rover stars, and Herb Foster, from Atlantic City Sea Gulls, also are part of the picture.

"Any two of those players could make the grade," said Patrick. "But so could any two of a bunch of young amateurs coming up to the Ranger camp at Winnipeg."

SOLD VETERAN

One gap in Rangers' scoring section was created by sale of Cecil Dillon, veteran left winger, to Detroit Red Wings. The other was filled alternately last year by Bill Carse and George Allen, Rambler recruits sold to Chicago Blackhawks at the end of the season.

Only other change in the Rangers will send Larry Molyneux, utility defenceman, to Philadelphia to replace Butch Keeling, who has taken a player-coaching job with Kansas City of the American Association.

Mobilization of Rangers' puck-chasing army will start October 8, when 25 or more amateurs report to Patrick's hockey school at Winnipeg, shooting for six vacancies in New York Rovers, Rangers' farm team in the Eastern United States Amateur League.

The Rangers answer the call October 12, Ramblers October 16 and Rovers October 22.

WOULD RECOGNIZE FIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Boxing Association announced today it would recognize as a middleweight title fight a bout between champion Al Hostak and Freddie Apostoli, or between Hostak and the winner of the scheduled Apostoli-Garcia contest.

Canada Embargoes

Scrap Iron Exports

OTTAWA (CP)—An embargo has been placed on the export of scrap iron and steel from Canada to all countries except Canada's wartime allies.

In the case of export to the latter, permits must be sought by the shippers but will not necessarily be granted, depending on Canada's own needs at the time.

International Show Tomorrow

Featured by races between the four top-notch Victoria riders and the visiting foursome from San Jose, California, the Victoria Cycle Racing Club will present a two-hour international fall show at the Cyclo-drome tomorrow night under the floodlights. First event is at 8.

The Californians, Otto Kuhl, Louie Rondoni, Freddie Hempler and Carl Poe, all smart pine track performers, are billed to take part in the evening's featured one-hour team race, which are thrillers, and special match races. Pitted against them will be riders like Eric Whitehead, a triple British Columbia board track champion, Neil Duval, a winner of the Colonial road race and Gar Warren and Gordy Bell, another pair of rating riders.

In the special match races Bell will oppose Kuhl, Warren and Poe are matched as are Whitehead and Hempler and Duval and Rondoni. Kuhl and Poe will team up together for the international team race and Hempler and Rondoni will comprise the other visiting team.

From all appearances local followers who attend tomorrow night's show should enjoy a very entertaining evening, for officials have gone to plenty of trouble to make this the season's finest card.

The visiting quartette have had more experience in board track riding and local riders will have to be in their best form if they hope to win over the Californians.

The complete program follows: Novice class, one mile, selected; one mile open, sprint every lap; five-lap race, boys under 15; class B miss-and-out; four international match races, Victoria vs. California; class B, six-lap sprint; one-hour international team race, Victoria vs. California.

This will be the final race meet of the season.

Canada Buys Less

IN TOWN TODAY

"We are glad to have the board filled," said John August Stoneman, commissioner, Board of Transport for Canada, discussing the appointment of Hon. Frank MacPherson, former B.C. Minister of Public Works, to the Transport Commission.

"I am pleasantly anticipating my first meeting with Mr. MacPherson."

Commissioners Stoneman and J. A. Stone arrived at the Empress Hotel from Ottawa this morning, crossing the Gulf by the night boat from Vancouver. They were joined this afternoon by Francois N. Garceau, deputy chief commissioner, who is accompanied on his trip to the Coast by his nephew, Jacques Garceau.

The Transport Board will sit tomorrow morning in the Court-house.

To present his credentials to Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber and Premier T. D. Pattullo, Kenji Nakachi, newly-appointed Japanese consul at Vancouver, arrived in Victoria this morning. He was accompanied by Tonji Mura, his private secretary.

"This is my first post in Canada and I believe I am going to like it," said Mr. Nakachi at the Empress Hotel, where he is staying.

He succeeds H. Neinichi, transferred to Tokyo for home service. Mr. Nakachi crossed from Japan aboard Ms. Heian Maru and has just assumed office at Vancouver.

Visiting the city from China, E. P. Chan of Hongkong, was registered at the Empress Hotel today. Canadians at the hotel were G. B. Heltzman, A. A. Smart and W. G. McFannett and R. C. LaRuse, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Oliver, Sarnia, Ont., and R. J. McGuinness, Banff, Alta. From the United States came Mrs. L. Lewis, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. W. W. Dunlop, Oakland, Calif.; Miss Grace Cooper, Chicago; Miss Angela Drews, Milwaukee; Willard Koss, Spokane, Wash.; Miss Mary Whitlock, San Francisco; R. C. Anderson, Dayton, Ohio; P. Mendelsohn, Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Keighley, Souix City.

Transportation men at the Empress Hotel today were G. Bruce Burpee, Canadian Pacific general passenger agent, Vancouver, and George A. McNicholl, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, Vancouver.

Guests at the Strathcona Hotel today include G. W. Armstrong, Winnipeg; A. Allen, Reno, Nevada; Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans, Redwood, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bister, Long Beach, Calif.; Miss L. Bramley Moore, Edmonton; and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Thiers, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Station Hospital at Work Point Barracks are in need of easy chairs for convalescing patients. These should be in usable condition, and could be sent direct to the hospital, or the Red Cross—phone G 3816—would be glad to arrange for delivery of same.

In Police Court

Two Waitresses Are in Trouble

Suspended sentence was given by Magistrate Henry Hall in City Police Court this morning to a waitress, who pleaded guilty to obstructing a police officer in the discharge of his duties. She was required to post a $500 bond for six months, or in default to serve 30 days. P. J. Sinnott, her solicitor, assured the court the bond would be posted.

Magistrate Hall said the charge was "terribly serious," and the full penalty was 10 years. He felt the young woman let her temper run away with her.

Another waitress, through her lawyer, Mr. Sinnott, pleaded guilty to charges of obtaining goods by false pretenses and was remanded for sentence until tomorrow. Evidence was that she had taken a typewriter from Elliott Fisher Company and later sold it to a second-hand firm for $5. The magistrate ordered the typewriter returned.

Mr. Sinnott said she was just over 18 years of age, and was to have been married this week. Stress of circumstances at home, he said, was the real cause of her actions—and twice, he said, she had attempted to do away with herself.

The magistrate said the latter was a serious charge, much more serious than the others.

Seven motorists paid $2.50 each when they pleaded guilty to parking over an hour in the business section. One was fined $10 for driving more than 30 miles an hour.

TOWN TOPICS

Persons desiring to form an amateur movie club are invited to contact R. W. Taylor, 201 Scollard Building, or phone E0642 or E0876.

A meeting for the purpose of forming a men's club will be held in the St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, Parish Hall, Friday evening at 8, to which all are cordially invited.

To organize a Red Cross unit for the district, a meeting of all women interested will be held in the Quadra Street School tomorrow afternoon at 3. Miss F. FitzGibbon will speak.

Provincial Police headquarters here today reported Walter Gungoat, Indian, sought in connection with the deaths of two Indians, Teddy and Matilda Danes, at the Anlaw Indian Reserve, near Hazelton, has been found dead, apparently by his own hand. His body was found by police some miles down the trail from the reserve.

If "it came to the knowledge of Red Cross headquarters that a person or persons are soliciting money on behalf of the Red Cross Society. It may be definitely stated that no person at this time has been authorized to collect funds for this organization. Householders, should they be canvassed, are requested to inform the police.

The annual meeting of the Beaux-Art will take place Friday evening at 8 in the clubrooms, Leighton at Duchess Street. Report of the year's progress, election of officers and plans for the coming year will be the order of business. All members are requested to make a special effort to attend this important meeting, the first one of the current season.

The last trip for the season of the Imperial Airways Ltd. plane from Montreal to England will be on September 27. The last trip of the Pan-American Airways Service between New York and Southampton via Shetland will be from New York on September 30, mail closing at Victoria 4:05 p.m. September 28. After the end of this month, the only trans-Atlantic air service will be from New York to Lisbon via Bermuda and the Azores, closing at Victoria 4:05 p.m. Mondays and due at Lisbon 5 p.m. Thursdays.

APPEAL DECISION ON BENCH MISHAP

The appeal of Union Estates Ltd., occupiers of Bowen Island, picnic resort outside Vancouver, against a judgment for damages granted five members of a picnic party injured there in July of last year, was opened by C. H. Locke, K.C., before the Court of Appeal today.

Plaintiffs secured combined damages of $2,070.25 for injuries sustained when a bench on which they were sitting collapsed. Judgment in their favor was given by Mr. Justice Fisher in Supreme Court, Vancouver.

Plaintiffs and the damages awarded each were: John A. Kennedy, $327; Catherine Kennedy, $800; Roderick McLeod, $144; Gladys McLeod, $600, and Sara H. Brooks, $199.25.

The plaintiffs were members of the International Harvester Company picnic at Bowen Island. The accident occurred while they were sitting on a bench before the "shell" in which a concert was being given.

Mr. Locke contended that while picnic grounds had been reserved for the party the location in front of the shell was not reserved for them. He contended the party was in the position of licensees, not invitees, and consequently the responsibility for the safety of the bench lay less heavily on the Union Estates Ltd. Their responsibility, under the circumstances, was limited to remedying known defects in the bench. The defects, he said, were not shown to be known.

The case is continuing.

SATISFIED WITH IDENTIFICATION

The appeal of William Doak against conviction by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court, on a charge of breaking and entering the store of Alex Shafoval, 100 Burnside Road, was dismissed in Court of Appeal today. The case was adjourned yesterday to permit Carew Martin, crown counsel, time to secure the transcript of the evidence dealing with identification.

"We think there is ample evidence of identification. The appeal is dismissed," Mr. Justice MacDonald said in judgment today. Doak, arrested with another man, Williams, was sentenced to five years. Williams, tried earlier, was acquitted on the grounds identification evidence was incomplete.

Doak, appearing in person, contended he had been done "a gross injustice." He contended the identification evidence on which he was convicted was inadequate.

FOREST LOSSES HELD LOWER

Definite gains in the war against forest fires in British Columbia, achieved through a new and intensified forest protection policy were claimed by the B.C. forest service today as the "official" fire season neared its close Saturday.

Despite an unusually long and severe heat wave in the middle of the summer the branch was able to report a reduction of nearly one-third in the number of fires, as compared with last year.

Main point, however, was that losses in the big timber forests of the island and lower mainland coast were practically negligible. Fires in this area were held down to scattered minor outbreaks.

Forest officials said that while weather is always the main factor in the fire situation, the success was due in part at least to the new forest policy that involves a tie-up with logging operators for use of their mechanized equipment in combating fires, and to the closure method of keeping people out of the woods at the height of the hot spell.

Major losses this year have been in the interior, particularly the Nelson district, where 632 fires took place, compared to 528 last year. In the Vancouver forest district, which includes the island, there were 335 fires, a reduction of 286 from last year. For the province as a whole the total was 1,627, against 2,306 last year.

Carpentry Course At Night School

The class in carpentry at King's Road School being conducted in connection with the Victoria Night School, is such that will enable one to build his own home.

It includes the drawing of own plans, reading the drawing of own plans, leveling and squaring, building the cribbing for the concrete, formula for mixing concrete, tensile and compressive strengths of concrete of different mixture, breaking weights and safe-bearing weights of timbers, the cutting and fixing of floor joists, studs, rafters, rough and finish boarding, shingling, flooring, making and fixing doors and rash, fixing hardware and painting.

Persons intending to take up either of these courses are asked to be at the King's Road School of building construction at 7:30 Monday night.

Trenches' Here Are Attacked

VANCOUVER—"Canadians can do more to maintain freedom and democracy by being alive in Canada than six feet underground in European soil," Harold E. Winch, M.P.P., declared at a meeting of the West Burrard C.C.F. Club last evening.

Mr. Winch stated that with the Dominion involved in war in Europe, another war was proceeding within Canada—"a war between the workers and the economic system and its administrators."

"The rulers of Canada are attacking the 'trenches' of Canadian citizens; trenches represented by the liberties and rights won over a long period of years," the speaker declared. "They are attacking freedom of speech, of the press, of the radio, of political expression and organization; freedom of trade unions and freedom of assembly."

One of the immediate tasks of the C.C.F., he said, was to mobilize Canadian citizens for the defence of such trenches. He pointed out that under the Munitions Act passed at the recent session of Parliament, the government had the right to regulate any industry without regard to laws, contracts or agreements under which that industry had operated before.

"The employees, through their trade unions, function by means of agreements with employers, and as the act makes no exception with regard to trade unions, the government has taken the authority which will enable it to break trade union agreements if it so desires. That is the possibility with which we are now faced," Mr. Winch said.

The speaker pointed out that a Toronto resident was arrested recently "merely for stating that the government would not pay $1.30 to a man on relief, but was willing to pay him that sum if he offered himself as cannon fodder."

LONDON (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at its 55th annual convention here today empowered its executive board to seek an early conference with Prime Minister Mackenzie King to protect the right to organize of workers on arms contracts.

Identification evidence on which he was convicted was inadequate.

By-election Due In Cranbrook

Premier Pattullo did not indicate today who might be his choice eventually for the Public Works ministry resigned by Hon. F. M. MacPherson, but speculation includes the names of Frank Putnam, M.P.P. for Nelson-Creston, and C. S. Leary, M.P.P. for Kaslo-Slocan. It is believed the new minister will come from the Kootenay country which Mr. MacPherson represented through the riding of Cranbrook.

Mr. Pattullo, in deciding to fill the portfolio himself temporarily, has added works to four other ministries he has held in the British Columbia government at various times in addition to the Premiership. He came into the cabinet in 1916 as Minister of Lands, and in the previous Liberal administration was Provincial Secretary for a time. When he came back as Premier in 1933 he also held the railways portfolio until last year. For a few months in 1937 he was Attorney-General.

Resignation of Mr. MacPherson from his Cranbrook seat will cause a by-election in that riding. The Premier said a decision has not been reached when the poll will be called but "in the ordinary course of events the riding would be given representation at the coming session." The House opens October 31.

Alaska Road Surveys Done

Arthur Dixon, B.C. member of the Canadian Commission on the B.C.-Alaska Highway project, said today survey crews who have been doing reconnaissance work on parts of the road routes will return to the coast within the next week. They have completed their field-work.

The data they have obtained will be assembled here for submission to the commission at a meeting in Ottawa in December. After that meeting it is expected the Canadian commissioners will go to Washington for a joint meeting with the U.S. Commission. The first joint meeting was held here in July.

Mr. Dixon said he had no word of reports from Ottawa that Hon. Charles Stewart, commission chairman, will visit the coast again next month to look over part of the route.

There is some speculation whether war will retard or speed up the highway project. While some sources suggest that Canada, with her financial resources all turned to war efforts, will have no funds for the work, others say that the military value of the road may assume new importance since the outbreak of hostilities.

Would Shelve Forum Plans

The suggestion that Victoria shelve indefinitely its plans for a civic arena and forum was advanced by Alderman Ed. Williams, chairman of the city's special forum committee, today as he called a meeting of his group in the City Hall this afternoon.

Conditions at present, he felt, did not lend themselves to borrowing for such a project. He was of the opinion the entire question should be tabled until after the war.

As far as possible civic participation in the construction of an arena was concerned, his position enjoyed the support of council representatives.

Kipling Society In First Meeting

The Victoria Kipling Society opened their 1939-40 session with a well-attended meeting in their new headquarters, Room 301, Union Building, last evening.

In place of the usual business routine the evening was arranged as a social, which gave the members opportunity to meet old and new friends of the society.

A program of Kipling music and reading was given by the following artists: Miss Sheila McArthur sang "My Best Friend" and "The Tribe of Tegumai" from "Just So Stories"; K. W. Symons sang "Rolling Down to Rio" and the old favorite of the South African War, "The Absent-minded Beggar"; Miss B. M. Carlisle read the story, "The Butterfly That Stamped," from "Just So Stories"; James McGrath sang "The Young British Soldier" and "Follow Me 'Ome"; and recited "Paget, M.P." A. E. G. Cornwell, president of the society, recited "If" and "The Answer."

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the society. Several new members were enrolled. K. C. Symonds, on behalf of the members, accorded thanks to the artists for the evening's entertainment.

The president, in his opening words, welcomed the members and friends of the society. Philip Hughes was accompanist.

Obituaries

Geo. Woods Dies

Frederick George Woods, above, well-known car salesman and resident of Victoria and district for the last 50 years, died yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital, aged 53 years.

He was born in London, England, coming here as a child, and for many years was a salesman with National Motor Ltd., and latterly with Begg Motor Co. He is survived by his widow, at the family residence, Cadboro Bay; two daughters, Mrs. Colin Ford, Chemainus, and Doreen, at home; one son, Percy Woods, Cadboro Bay; one stepson, Neil Creig, at the family residence; one brother, William S. Woods, 1114 Balmoral Road; two sisters, Mrs. A. L. Young, Cadboro Bay, and Mrs. Clarence Ahern, Redwood, Calif., and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Sands Mortuary tomorrow afternoon at 2, followed by interment in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

McKENZIE—Services will be held at McCall Bros' Funeral Home tomorrow afternoon at 2 for Daniel McKenzie, 636 Pembroke Street, who died last Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital. Born in Greenock, Scotland, 81 years ago, he had been a resident of this city for many years. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

GILLESPIE—Funeral services for Mrs. Florence Adelaide Gillespie will be held at Christ Church Cathedral on Friday afternoon at 3:30. Rev. A. E. G. Hendy will conduct the services, and interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

TOLMIE—Many pioneer families were represented at the funeral yesterday of Henry Work Tolmie, held from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. F. L. Stephenson conducted the Anglican service. Cremation took place at Royal Oak Crematorium. The pallbearers were: A. S. Christie, Fred Herd, E. Browne, W. F. Loveland, W. Bray and B. C. Pettingill.

MISSION, B.C. (CP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for James Doherty Coleman, 67, widely known in agricultural circles of Ontario and western Canada and more recently a member of the Mission City Council and park board. He died Sunday while walking to Mission from his farm at nearby Cedar Valley.

TORONTO (CP)—William Walter Colwell, 85, formerly travelling auditor of the Canadian National Railways, died yesterday.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stephen E. Garnham, 81, veteran of the Riel Rebellion and prominent Vancouver shipping man, died in hospital here yesterday. He suffered injuries in a traffic accident some time ago and had been in ill health since. After the Riel Rebellion, Mr. Garnham joined the forces of the Northwest Mounted Police in 1885 and later came to Vancouver, where he became manager of the Coastwise Steamship and Barge Company.

CITY TAKES DOWN FLOWER BASKETS

Fall had definitely arrived this week.

Sure indication that summer was over was the city parks department decision to remove hanging baskets from lamp standards in the downtown area.

The baskets, more beautiful this season than last, have been maintained at a cost of $1,100 this year. That figure does not include costs of the baskets themselves.

They will be dismantled and stored for next year, if the council decides to continue that form of street decoration.

The parks department profited from its experience of 1938, improving the type of flowers placed in the containers and bettering the method of watering them.

During the Royal Visit here, scores of outside newspaper representatives remarked on the attractiveness of the baskets and, in several cases, made mention of them in dispatches to their papers.

CAR FINANCING APPEAL ENDED

Argument in support of increased damages for Don Ingram Limited, for losses allegedly sustained through the breach of contract occasioned by General Securities Limited was put forward by C. H. Locke, K.C., for the respondent as that case drew to a close in Court of Appeal yesterday. Judgment was reserved.

General Securities appealed a Supreme Court decision granting Ingram interests $8,000 damages for the breach which occurred over financing of a shipment of cars Ingram ordered from eastern Canada. General Securities, which financed Ingram's orders, declined to fulfill its agreement. As a result, Ingram lost the Studebaker Agency. Alfred Bull, K.C., for the appellants, attacked the manner of arriving at damages in the court below and stated they were too remote.

C. H. Locke, K.C., for the Ingram interests, stated damages were always recoverable for breach of contract and damages were those which flowed from the breach. The finance company, he stated, was aware of Ingram's business dealings and knew the results that would follow a breach.

No damages, he noted, had been allocated in the court below to Ingram for loss of credit and reputation, which, Mr. Locke thought, should have been taken into consideration. He also contended damages had been insufficient for the loss of the Studebaker franchise.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES
 2c per word per insertion.
 Minimum charge, 25c.

Births, $1.00 per insertion.
 Marriages, $1.50 per insertion.
 Deaths, $1.50 first insertion and $1.00 succeeding insertions.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for return on account of errors or omissions must be made within 30 days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at the Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E4175 between 7 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

DIED

WOODS—There passed away on Tuesday afternoon, September 26, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Frederick George Woods, aged 53 years; born in London, England, and a resident of this city for the last 30 years, and resided at Cadboro Bay for many years. The late Mr. Woods is survived by his wife, at home, one son, Percy Woods of Cadboro Bay; one stepson, Neil Craig, at the family residence; one brother, William B. Woods of 1114 Balmoral Road, two sisters, Mrs. A. L. Young of Cadboro Bay and Mrs. Clarence A. Brown of Victoria. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the chapel of the Royal Victoria Hospital. Burial in the family plot in the Victoria Cemetery.

MCKENZIE—At St. Joseph's Hospital on Friday, September 22, Daniel McKenzie of 636 Pembroke Street, aged 81 years. The late Mr. McKenzie was born in Greenock, Scotland, and for many years was a resident of this city. The remains are in the care of the funeral home, where funeral services will be conducted on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

GILLESPIE—The death occurred Sunday afternoon of Florence Adelaide Gillespie, widow of George Gillespie, of this city. Born in Hamilton, Ont., daughter of the late Canon Hodge, the eldest son of John Hodge, having predeceased her in 1929.

The funeral will be held on Friday, the cortege leaving Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2:30 p.m., proceeding to Christ Church Cathedral, where services will be conducted by Rev. A. E. O. Hendy at 3:30. Interment in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Canada Free of
U.S. Trade Bars

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Key Pittman, Democrat, of the United States senate foreign relations committee, believes the exemption of Canada from a portion of the "cash and carry" provision of the administration's proposed neutrality legislation probably would prove of little benefit to Great Britain.

The bill provides that before supplies of any kind could be shipped to a belligerent that country must obtain title to them in the United States. That section of the measure would apply to Canada as well as any other belligerent.

Another provision prohibits American vessels from carrying passengers or supplies to any belligerent. In this case, however, transportation on American ships on lakes, rivers and inland waters bordering the United States, as well as railroad and truck transportation, would be permitted under regulations prescribed by the President.

The effect of this, some senators said, would be to permit the United States to carry on uninterrupted commerce with Canada, except such commerce would be placed on a "cash" basis with payments required within the ordinary commercial credit limitations of 90 days.

Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, an opponent of the administration bill, announced he planned to offer an amendment to do away with the inland waterway exemption, contending the rule that applies to one belligerent should apply to all, despite geographic location.

On the other hand, Senator Pittman said he could see no material benefit to Great Britain and her allies in permitting United States ships to carry supplies to Canada. Great Britain, he asserted, could obtain for cash any supplies in the United States she desired, just as could Canada, and in either event would have to transport those supplies across the Atlantic in foreign ships.

Pittman said the inland waterway exemption in the bill followed closely a similar clause in the expired "cash and carry" section of the present neutrality act. He said this provision originally was inserted at the request of border state senators, who contended ordinary commercial relations between the United States and Canada would be seriously disrupted for no valid reason if it were not.

Nanaimo Deaths

NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo resident for 52 years, Samuel Horrocks, 56, died yesterday after a long illness. Born in Lancashire, he came with his parents to Nanaimo in 1887. He worked in Nanaimo coal mines. He was keenly interested in sports of all kinds, especially soccer, and was a prominent member of Eagles, Aerle, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Besides a widow, Mr. Horrocks is survived by two sons, Charles Henry and Delbert, both at home. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon.

NANAIMO — Charles Martin Armstrong, 77-year-old retired bicycle manufacturer, died Monday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hubert H. Booth of Nanaimo Bay, after a short illness. A native of Quebec, Mr. Armstrong for several years manufactured bicycles in Toronto before he retired to Nanaimo Bay 20 years ago.

Besides his daughter, he is survived by two sons, Wilson W. Armstrong of Nanaimo Bay and Charles E. Armstrong of Edmonton. Funeral arrangements are being made.

NANAIMO—Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Mrs. Eliza Oliver, resident of Gray Creek, B.C., who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Besbet of Cassidy.

She was 60 years old and had lived in the Kootenay Lake district for 30 years.

Charles Oliver of Nelson and Dorothy Oliver of Hoquiam, Wash., son and daughter, attended the service.

New Russian
Demands On Estonia

MOSCOW (AP)—While the visit of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, occupied the centre of the stage here today, there was speculation on the possibility that Russia may have made strong demands for maritime rights on her Baltic neighbor, Estonia.

A government communique last night accused Estonia of harboring unidentified submarines in her waters and declared that an Estonian explanation of the escape of the interned Polish submarine Orzel from the harbor of Tallinn was "unsatisfactory."

"In view of these circumstances," it added, "the question of ensuring the security of Soviet waters against diversionsist acts on the part of hiding submarines acquires great importance."

It was expected here that Karl Selter, Estonian foreign minister, who arrived suddenly in Moscow Sunday and left hurriedly for Tallinn on Monday, would return to Moscow shortly to resume conversations with Soviet authorities.

(Dispatches from Riga, Latvia, said Selter had gone into conference with President Konstantin Paets and General Johan Laidoner, Estonian army commander-in-chief, immediately on reaching Tallinn.)

Atlas Presents
"Borrowed Time"

If it's a motion picture, there's a Watson in it.

The slogan may represent a slight exaggeration, but it is becoming increasingly true. For the nine children who comprise the family of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Watson Sr., can now boast an aggregate of more than 1,200 films in which they have appeared. The latest is the picturization of the Broadway stage hit of last season, "On Borrowed Time," in which eight-year-old Bobs, youngest of the Watson clan, won the "plum" child role of the year as Pud to Lionel Barrymore's Gramp. The film opens today at the Atlas Theatre.

Bowes' Show
At Capitol

Major Bowes' latest touring stage show, "The Swing School Review," opened this afternoon at the Capitol Theatre and will give four performances daily, today and Thursday. These little stars of the airways have a streamlined show, full of pep and line up a variety of specialties that include the latest in swing music, comedy and dancing. "The Four Jitterbugs" provide the ultimate in swing-time dancing.

There are 15 separate acts with the show with 30 artists participating. A roller-skating number winds up the show, which includes many novelties, including "The Harmonica Aces," "The Three Smart Girls," Ruth Rice, acrobatic specialty, and Buddy Lewis, impersonator, and "The Rascals of Rhythm."

OAK BAY THEATRE

"If anyone is tired, please call out," yelled Bud Murray, dance director, above the din on stage 3 of the Hal Roach studios. No one replied and the rehearsal of "The Australian Dances for 'Captain Fury'" now at the Oak Bay Theatre, went on its merry way.

Brian Aherne, Victor McLaglen, June Lang, Margaret Roach, Virginia Field, Mary Gordon, John Carradine and a score of extra players join in the mad whirl of steps and music.

PLAZA THEATRE

Movie fans everywhere will have one decided advantage over the gay thousands who go east for the snow sports this year. They will be able to view the celebrated Dartmouth winter carnival at first hand in Walter Wanger's "Winter Carnival," which is showing at the Plaza Theatre today through United Artists release. The film co-stars Ann Sheridan and Richard Carlson.

Girl Overboard Promptly Rescued

Beatrice Creel, pretty calculating-machine demonstrator, owes her life today to the alertness of the officers and crew of the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Marguerite.

Returning from a trip to Victoria, Miss Creel fell overboard when the Princess Marguerite, which, with the sister ship Princess Kathleen, was transporting back to Seattle 1,900 delegates to the American Bankers' Association convention.

The accident happened when the steamer was within eight miles of Seattle last night.

Hearing the girl's cries, Assistant Purser F. D. L. Wormald threw several life preservers over the side. Miss Creel clung to one until Capt. Clifford Fenton could bring his ship about and lower a lifeboat, which picked her up.

A physician who examined Miss Creel after she had been brought aboard said she was suffering from shock, but not in a serious condition.

Princess Marguerite arrived back here at 1.15 this afternoon from Seattle.

U.S. Ships and Planes Exercising Off Coast

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—One hundred and one ships of the United States fleet, with 400-odd fighting planes, put to sea yesterday for four days of secret manoeuvres.

The tactical exercises, planned months ago, were delayed a day due to heavy weather off the southern California coast and orders of the fleet commander-in-chief to stand by for possible rescue work with scores of pleasure craft.

There were 10 battleships, 3 aircraft carriers, 10 heavy cruisers, 11 light cruisers, 43 destroyers, 11 submarines and 13 auxiliaries and minesweepers in the fleet's sortie out of the San Pedro base.

While the nature of the exercises was secret, it was known that the operations were in preparation for the annual fleet problem which will be conducted in the Pacific for six weeks early next week.

Furnish War Risk For Crew Members

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An agreement by the American President Lines to furnish war risk insurance of $1,500 for crew members yesterday ended a dispute which had delayed sailing of the liner President Cleveland to the Orient.

Joseph R. Sheehan, president of the company, announced insurance rates had changed, enabling the lines to obtain insurance, effective at noon today.

Around the Docks

Feeding 2,000 Afloat Means Organization

Catering to the appetites of 2,000 people at a single meal aboard ship without a complaint means organizing efficiency.

This happened aboard the Canadian Pacific steamers Princess Kathleen and Princess Marguerite yesterday when the American Bankers' convention made the cruise from Seattle to Victoria.

An idea of the vast amount of work and organization entailed in serving luncheon and dinner to such crowds was gained this morning in conversation with J. B. Reid, catering superintendent, B.C. Coast Service. Mr. Reid traveled on the Princess Kathleen to supervise the dining arrangements.

The dining-rooms of both steamers were utilized to capacity and additional seven-chair tables were placed along the freight deck, space usually occupied by automobiles.

This dining space was on the same deck as the galley, affording excellent service. Over 100 stewards were required to serve the meals, 65 extra waiters for other ships and the summer personnel being employed.

Summing it all up, Mr. Reid said: "Everybody was well satisfied. When there are no complaints, you know the service is good."

2 Ships Alongside

Lumber activity continues brisk at the Ogden Point lumber assembly plant with the berths occupied by shipping today. British freighters King John and Bradtype arrived in port overnight from inside ports, each taking approximately 600,000 feet.

Kathleen Is Withdrawn

Deadheading back from Seattle, Ss. Princess Kathleen reached here at 3 this morning and is now tied up at the Belleville Street docks for general overhaul.

The vessel is in line for dry-docking later and scheduled to return to the triangle route next Monday.

Ss. Princess Marguerite left Seattle at 9 this morning for Victoria, replacing the Princess Victoria. The latter vessel will be laid up.

ROYAL SCEPTRE'S CREW LANDED

BAHIA, Brazil (AP)—Thirty-two survivors from the British freighter Royal Sceptre, which was sunk September 7, were here today. They arrived yesterday aboard the British freighter Browning.

(The British Information Ministry September 23 said it feared all aboard the Royal Sceptre were lost after search of Atlantic waters she sank.) In a statement Monday the ministry accused Germany of "murder on the high seas," declaring the submarine that sank the Royal Sceptre left her crew in small boats "without possible hope of reaching land."

Passengers said the Royal Sceptre's crew was picked up near the island of Madeira after the vessel had been torpedoed by the German submarine U-48.

Ss. Coldbrook Ready To Sail for Orient

SEATTLE (AP)—Second to fly the colors of the new Pacific Northwest Orient Line, the freighter Coldbrook is scheduled to sail late today for Yokohama, where her sister ship, the Satsurama, arrived on schedule Monday.

A third freighter for the new service is expected to arrive here from the east coast in October.

MAY DISCONTINUE NAVIGATION AIDS

How the war is affecting shipping in all parts of the world is shown by notices to mariners issued by the Department of Transport at Ottawa.

Dealing with the Canadian coasts, warning, issued by authority of the Department of National Defence, states: "Mariners approaching Canadian shores are warned that all or some of the lights, fog alarms and radio beacons may be discontinued without notice."

Another notice points out that the Straits of Dover, Firth of Forth and Heligoland Bight are mined areas.

Vessels passing through Straits of Dover can do so in safety by proceeding through Downs. Vessels using any other route will do so at their own peril.

Vessels can enter Firth of Forth in safety by proceeding to northward of Bass Rock. Vessels proceeding to southward of Bass Rock will do so at their own peril.

In Heligoland Bight the danger area lies within the following perimeter: (a) The parallel of 56 degrees 00 minutes north; (b) limit of Danish territorial waters as far as German coast; (c) German coast as far as Dutch frontier; (d) limit of Dutch territorial waters as far as meridian 5 degrees 00 east; (e) meridian 5 degrees 00 east as far as parallel of 56 degrees 00 north.

No mines will be laid in areas enclosed by parallel of 55 degrees 40 minutes north, the meridian 7 degrees 41 east, the parallel 55 degrees 24 north and limit of Danish territorial waters.

The western entrance to Johore Strait, in the China Sea, is mined. In South Africa the port of Bloemfontein area is closed to shipping and in the Mediterranean the approach to Valletta, Maltese Islands, is prohibited anchorage.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Increased offerings and late hesitancy on the part of buyers eased wheat futures prices below previous levels in the last half of today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Quotations moved narrowly, however, and finished only 1/4 to 1/2 cent down, October at 71 1/2, November 72 1/2, December 73 1/2 and May 77 1/2.

Early trading brought out scattered buying credited to eastern houses, export interests and mills, but this proved unable to absorb the late offerings and buyers retreated before the pressure. Export sales of Canadian wheat were confined to minor loads, with no definite figure available.

Cash wheat operations covered light sales of red springs to exporters and mills. In the coarse grain pit, exporters offered fair support in oats, barley and rye. Prices were higher most of the day, but like wheat, weakened under additional offerings in the last half of the session.

'War Babies' Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—War shares retreated in the stock market today under cover of a show of strength in rails and utilities.

As the glamour faded from the recently buoyant "war babies," other groups had difficulty carrying on. The forward march in rails and utilities, brisk for a time in the forenoon, became halting and uncertain.

Losses of one to more than two points appeared in steels, coppers, chemicals, motors, aircrafts and miscellaneous industrials favored in the September upswing. A few power issues retained fractional advances.

Motors rallied just before the finish and Chrysler and General Motors converted earlier losses into moderate net gains.

Approaching the recent highs, many stocks encountered larger offerings from traders who concluded it was better to accept profits and wait for the next turn of events in Europe and the neutrality fight.

Transactions approximated 2,400,000 shares.

Among losers were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, American Smelting, International Nickel, Johns-Manville and United Aircraft.

Higher most of the day were North American, American Telephone, U.S. Rubber and Goodrich Tire.

Rails again led bonds higher. Leading commodities were uneven and mostly narrow.

The Rise and Fall of Babylon

VIII--THE BABYLONIAN CAPTIVITY

In telling an important part of Babylon's history, we can refer to the Bible, where it is written down. The Bible account is very long, and in this space I can give only a few passages.

"And Jeremiah said, Thus saith Jehovah of hosts, the God of Israel... Now that I have given all these lands into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, and all the nations shall serve him and his son, and his son's son, until the time of his own land shall come..."

Babylonian king (left) handing a "grant of land" to one of the rich men in his kingdom.

"The nation that will bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I let remain in their own land."

Jeremiah, the prophet who told his people it was best to submit to Babylon, was put in prison. The princes of Israel felt that he was in favor of Babylon, instead of his own land. He warned the king, Zedekiah, that he would be "delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon."

Later we read that Nebuchadnezzar came to Jerusalem to lay siege to it once more. Months passed before the army of Babylon was able to capture the city. Then a breach was made in the city walls. The Hebrew king tried to escape, but was taken prisoner.

Treasures were removed from the great temple of Jerusalem, and several thousand of the people were bound and taken to Babylon, a journey of about 600 miles by direct route.

The Hebrews found themselves in one of the great cities of the ancient world. It was far larger than Jerusalem, and the people were well advanced in writing and in other arts.

The captives were not kept inside prison walls, but they were forced to work for their Babylonian masters. An idea of their feelings may be gained from old Hebrew Psalms, such as the one containing these words:

"By the rivers of Babylon, 'There we sat down, yea, we wept,

"When we remembered Zion." When they spoke of Zion they meant Jerusalem. It was far from the largest city of the world, but to them it was most dear.

The years passed, and they did not forget. Parents told their children of the fine city which Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers had destroyed in part.

Before all hope was lost, a new prophet arose among the Hebrews. He cheered them, and promised that the day would come when they could leave Babylon.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, September 28

Benefic aspects rule powerfully today. The morning hours should be equally propitious for employers and employees. Capital will be generously invested in new enterprises under this sway, which seems to presage news stimulating to the world of trade and commerce. Important business should be transacted before noon.

Business revival in many lines will be reflected in improved home financial conditions. This is a date favorable to hospitality. Shopping should be most fortunate under this sway, particularly clothing purchases.

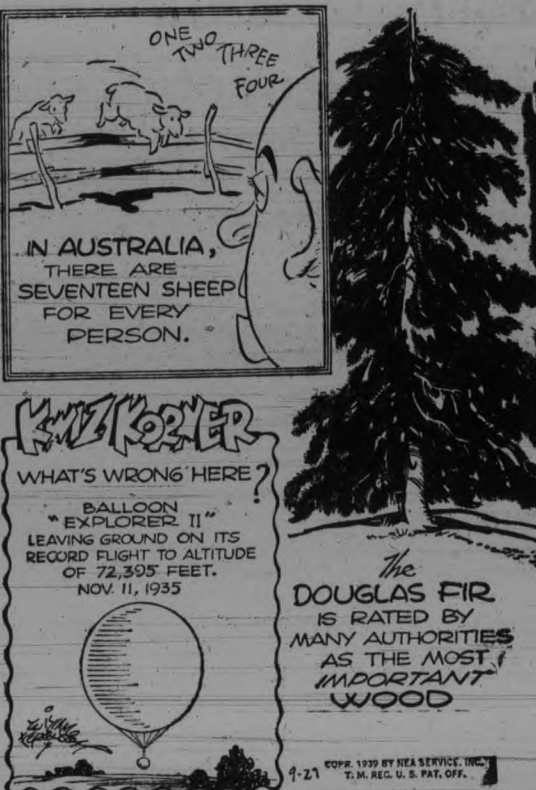

Big business should benefit greatly, as the stars appear to presage governmental adjustments that free capital and cause expanding enterprise. This is a promising configuration for building and construction of bridges, steamships and airplanes. While railways are under threatening portents, freight shipments should be extraordinarily heavy from west.

Foreign nations will reach conditions so serious that the menace certain lines of business in the United States. Some directive action may be taken by the government to control the rising tide of conflict abroad. Severe penalties may be imposed or radical measures adopted regarding the sale of war materials. Decisive alignment as a world savior or an isolationist is indicated before the end of the year.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a man 30 years old, married and the father of two children, but my parents still persist in treating me as if I were an infant. They think they have a right to tell me just what I should do about everything, and when I recently made a business change without consulting them they expressed their displeasure in no uncertain terms. I know they are hurt and I am sorry to have done it, as I have the greatest respect and love for them, but I feel that I am capable of making my own decisions. How can I convince them that I am right?

Answer: Just drop the matter. Don't explain or apologize any more. They will get over their peeve in a little while and respect you all the more for your independence.

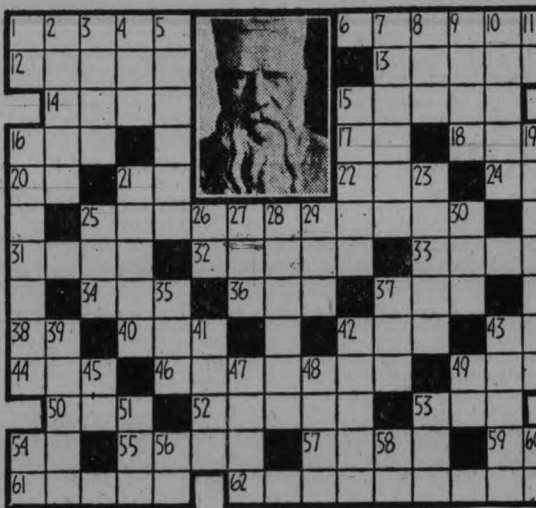

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am very much in love with a fine man who wants to marry me, but he is 17 years my senior. Is this too much difference between our ages? I am a divorced woman and do not wish to make another mistake. What are my chances of happiness with this man?

Answer: Good. Seventeen years is not an impassable barrier between a man and woman if they are congenial. Besides, your unhappy matrimonial experience no doubt makes you old for your age.

DOROTHY DIX.

AQUITANIA'S GUNS UNDER WRAPS—Under wraps, but ready for instant use, one of two 12-pound guns aboard the British liner Aquitania gives the passenger ship a warlike appearance as she comes into New York Harbor. The zig-zag, submarine-evading course the Aquitania followed in its trans-Atlantic trip made use of guns unnecessary.

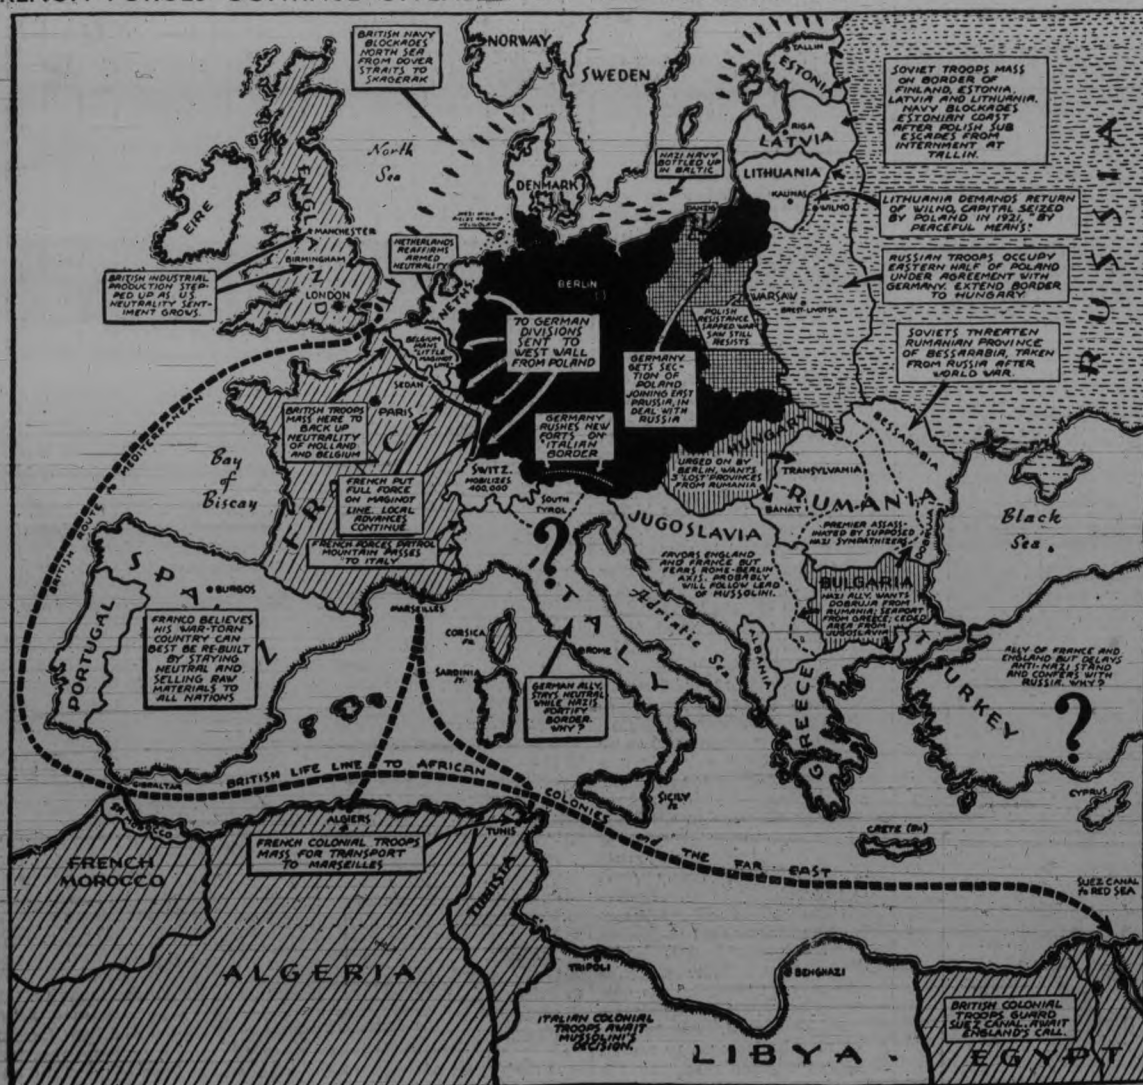

'ALL BUT HITLER'—The only thing needed to make this picture complete is the presence of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler. Members of London's balloon barrage, trying to select a suitable name for their canteen, decided that "Berchtesgaden" would be just right. Berchtesgaden, Germany, is the Bavarian retreat of Der Fuehrer.

DEEP IN THOUGHT—Accompanied by Lord Cadogan, Lord Halifax appears deep in thought as they walk to the Foreign Office with their gas masks slung over their shoulders.

FRENCH FORCES CONTINUE OFFENSIVE ON THE WESTERN FRONT

This map of Europe shows at a glance how the pieces lie on the chessboard of war. Observers feel that the next major move may be in Rumania, where the government nipped a Fascist uprising in the bud by "liquidating" hundreds of Iron Guard members. On the western front, French forces are still reported to be gaining ground and repulsing heavy German counter-attacks.
